President Signs Seaway Bill

Ike Happy Work Can Begin On Project

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower signed the St. Lawrence seaway bill today in a White House ceremony.

"Now work can begin on the great project," the President declared as he put his signature to the measure which sets in motion a plan to bring ocean trade into the heart of the American continent.

With more than a score of Congress members and Canadian Ambassador A. D. P. Henney, looking on, Eisenhower used nine pens to sign the bill.

Three of them were made from wood recovered from old Fort Detroit in Michigan, which was the last of the British-held forts in this country.

Seated at Eisenhower's right as he signed were Sens. Ferguson (R-Mich) and Wiley (R-Wis). On his left was Rep. Dondero (R-Mich). All three of the Congressmen played key roles in enactment of the bill.

Eisenhower said he was very happy to sign it and that he was particularly glad the Canadian ambassador was present.

The President himself announced plans for the ceremony at his news conference yesterday. Altogether 43 members of Congress were invited.

The bitterly contested seaway legislation finally cleared Congress last Friday after a 30-year struggle.

The measure authorizes the

City Water Reservoir Nears Full Capacity

If the flow continues steady in Cold Run and East Cold Run streams, the city reservoir will be at maximum capacity in about 10 days, Water Superintendent Aubrey Hays said today.

The water level at the lake is now 10½ inches below the top, the highest level since the reservoir's construction, Hayes said. The pumping station is able to pump about one inch per day above the needs of the city, he explained.

Twenty-seven inches from the 39-foot maximum level was the previous high mark at the lake. During the winter drought the level dropped to a low of 30 feet.

When filled to maximum capacity the lake will hold 680 million gallons. At the present time there are approximately 661 million gallons in the reservoir, the water superintendent said.

3 Charged In Robbery Of Smithville Bank

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Two brothers were held on federal charges of bank robbery today in the holdup of the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Smithville. A third man was free on bond, charged with withholding information and furnishing the getaway car.

The brothers were arrested Tuesday night at the home of their parents and taken to Cleveland after they waived preliminary hearing. They are Harry T. Gerhart, 18, of Akron, a lineman for the Ohio Edison Co., and Donald E. Gerhart, 22, of near Wooster, a laborer for the International Paper Co.

Richard Kelly, 23, a bartender, was the man charged with withholding information. Police quoted him as saying he was paid $200 for the use of his car.

About $2,400 of the $3,425 taken from the bank Monday was recovered from the brothers, police said.

Officers said all three admitted their part in the holdup plot.

A bystander took down the license number of a car bandits used after abandoning the one used in the actual stickup.

T. Emerson Smith, Salem grocer, said today that he would not be a candidate for re-election as chairman of the Columbiana County Republican party.

The Republican organization has scheduled its annual reorganization meeting for Monday night at 7:30 in the Courthouse at Lisbon.

"Emy" has served three terms as chairman of the Columbiana County Republican Central and Executive Committees and for four years before that was vice chairman.

Patrol Cites Driver After Road Mishap

A 19-year-old Signal motorist was cited for reckless driving by state patrolmen after one of the two one-car mishaps which occurred on area highways Wednesday.

Patrolmen said the youth, Jerry Murphy, of RD 5, Signal, lost control of his car causing it to go off the left side of the road into the ditch on Route 30, a half-mile west of Lisbon, at 4:10 p.m.

An auto driven by Walter Durbin, 49, of Steubenville went off the right side of the highway on a slight curve and overturned on Route 14, a mile east of Columbiana, at 10:40 p.m. last night. No one was hurt.

Doctor To Head Dien Bien Airlift

Recovery Of Wounded May Begin Tomorrow

HANOI, Indochina (AP) — The French flew one of Indochina's most eminent doctors to Dien Bien Phu today to arrange for speedy release of French Union troops seriously wounded in the long defense of the fallen fortress.

French officials hoped the mass airlift of casualties from the Vietminh-held valley 175 miles west of Hanoi would start tomorrow.

They anticipated it would bring out about 700 men — half of the 1,300 to 1,400 estimated wounded. The Communists agreed at the Geneva conference to release only casualties in the "serious" category.

Dean Heads Group

Dr. Pierre Huard, 62-year-old dean of medicine at the University of Hanoi, headed the group going to Dien Bien Phu by helicopter.

The French anticipated Huard's mission would be quickly successful. French air force observers reported hundreds of coolies already were readying Dien Bien Phu's airstrip to receive the big French transports, filling in the trenches and shell holes which wrecked it during the 56 days of rebel attack.

Accompanied By Doctors

Huard's party took off from Luang Prabang, the royal Laotian capital 115 miles southwest of Dien Bien Phu. Accompanying him were two French army medical officers, French air transport experts to survey the landing facilities, and the helicopter crew.

Doctors and nurses were mobil-

Dies Of Heart Attack While Driving Auto

Columbiana County Coroner Ernest Sturgis has ruled that Donald W. Nolan, 47, of RD 1, Poland, found dead in his car in East Palestine early this morning, died of a heart attack.

Nolan had been driving north on S. Market St. at 4:15 a.m. when he apparently suffered the attack. His car jumped over a curb and struck a utility pole. The victim evidently had attempted to halt the vehicle because the car was not damaged and the body showed no injuries, Sturgis said.

Police found a bottle of medicine in the man's pocket identified by a local physician as a type commonly prescribed for a heart ailment.

Nolan operated a service station on Route 90 between Petersburg and New Middleton. He leaves a wife and a 16-year-old son.

The body will be taken to the Fox Funeral Home in Youngstown.

3 Indochina Peace Plans Offered

Geneva Talks Deadlock Awaiting Vote On Laniel

GENEVA (AP) — The Indochina peace talks, tightly deadlocked over rival East and West armistice plans, came to a virtual standstill today while delegates to the Far Eastern conference awaited the outcome of France's political crisis.

Some followers of French internal politics said it was a toss-up whether Premier Joseph Laniel's government would survive a National Assembly vote of confidence scheduled for tonight on the Indochina issue.

The feeling here was that if the government fell, the Geneva parley would have to be suspended until a new cabinet was formed.

No formal meeting of the nine-delegation Indochina conference was scheduled for today, but diplomats planned numerous private meetings to discuss strategy and review developments so far.

To Meet Tomorrow

The next formal session on Indochina was set tentatively for tomorrow afternoon, unless developments force cancellation.

This afternoon delegates to the 19-nation Korean conference were scheduled to hear a policy statement from British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, the last of the big power delegates to speak on Korea.

During early stages of the Korean debate, the United States let it be known it was annoyed by the failure of its Western allies to answer sharp Communist attacks on the United States. Since then the U. N. allies have come along one by one to defend the Americans and associate themselves with U.S. policies.

Difficulty With Rhee

The Western Powers still were having difficulties lining up South Korean President Syngman Rhee behind their efforts to present a common policy for nationwide elections under U. N. supervision. The Ambassador Arthur Dean, has been trying to persuade Rhee for two weeks to give up his insistence that the proposed elections must be held only in North Korea.

A dispatch from Seoul last night said Rhee had rejected the appeals.

In view of the general conviction that a Korean solution is not possible at this time, Western sources here considered Rhee's position important only from a propaganda standpoint. However, these sources said it would be better to present the fairest proposal possible, even if the Communists are certain to reject it.

Laniel Seeks Confidence Vote

Premier's Stay In Government Doubtful

PARIS (AP) — Premier Joseph Laniel sought a vote of confidence today from a balky National Assembly. The outcome will decide the fate of his shaky government and possibly that of the Geneva conference as well.

If 314 negative votes are cast, Laniel will have to resign. His coalition is rounding out its 11th month in office, an unusually long term in France.

Political experts gave him only a slim chance of surviving today's vote.

The issue was the Premier's demand that debate on Indochina be postponed until after the Geneva conference. He won a 311-262 confidence vote on the same question last Thursday, but that was before the fall of Dien Bien Phu aroused nationwide bitterness.

Bidault At Geneva

In Laniel's favor, however, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault is in the midst of negotiations at Geneva for much-desired peace in Indochina. To throw out the government now would mean throwing out Bidault as well.

Many delegates were hesitant about leaving France voiceless at Geneva because of a Cabinet crisis.

The general desire to have France fully represented at international conferences has done much to keep Laniel in office. He won previous confidence votes because of then-impending negotiations, first at Bermuda and later in Berlin.

Bitter At Laniel

The deputies have been generally bitter over Laniel's refusal to debate the Indochina situation at this time. Many also feared that if they voted confidence in him, their people back home might interpret it as approval of the Dien Bien Phu situation.

On the other hand a government crisis could lead to dissolution of the Assembly and new elections, which few deputies would relish.

Laniel argued that "an unprepared debate now" on Inodchina would lessen the government's authority and would "suspend the work of the Geneva conference."

2,000 Shop Workers To Get Chest X-rays

Nearly 2,000 industrial workers at four Salem factories will receive chest X-rays when the Columbiana County Public Health Association's X-ray mobile is stationed here next week.

Arrangements have been made to examine employes of the Deming Company, Eljer Company, Quaker City Foundry and the E. W. Bliss Company, it was announced today by Miss Lillian Schroder, health league secretary.

Also as a part of its May chest X-ray program, similar examinations will be held in Lisbon at the plants of the R. Thomas & Sons Co., Vitrified Products Co. and the National Screw & Wire Co.

In East Liverpool chest X-rays will be taken of employes of the National Drawn Steel and Patterson Foundry. Christmas seals finance the work of the league.

Spring's Here And Insects Are Back To Plague Farmers

Flea beetles, tiny black injurious insects which leap when approached, are extra plentiful this season, according to a report from the Columbiana County agricultural extension office.

The jumping bugs, which attack many young garden plants including tomatoes, spinach and radishes, also carry bacterial wilt, a serious disease of sweet corn.

The report states that by killing off the flea beetles with DDT dust or spray, sweet corn wilt or Stewart's disease, can be checked. First application should be made when the corn is in the two-leaf stage.

Aphids, also called plant lice, which suck the strength from forage and vegetable crops, are rapidly building up in alfalfa. These bubble-like insects can be killed with benzene hexachloride, or BHC, using two quarts to the acre. This insecticide will also control spittlebugs, another sucking insect menace.

Green worms are at work in long-leaved pines in Ohio. These worms, which are larvae of the sawfly, can quickly strip a pine tree of its needles. DDT will get rid of them.

States Stevens Never Told Him Of Difficulties

Army Counsel Denies Stevens Asked Him To Act On Ft. Monmouth

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army counselor John G. Adams denied today that Secretary of the Army Stevens ever instructed him to try to halt the McCarthy subcommittee's investigation of alleged security risks at Ft. Monmouth, N. J.

And he never made any attempt to halt it, Adams declared.

Testifying for his second day at Senate hearings on the row between Sen. McCarthy and Pentagon officials, Adams also said he and Stevens never had any discussion of the secretary's difficulties with McCarthy prior to Adams' becoming Army counselor last Oct. 1.

This testimony bore on two principal charges from Sen. McCarthy and his aides.

Claim Probes Involved

The McCarthy camp contends the present roaring controversy stemmed from attempts by Stevens to shut off the subcommittee's inquiry into Communists in the Army, and that Adams was employed "for the principal purpose of 'handling the committee' and persuading it to cease its investigation . . ."

Adams, under stern cross-examination by special counsel Ray H. Jenkins in the 16th day of the hearings, testified Stevens, in hiring him, didn't even indicate the Army had a problem with the McCarthy subcommittee.

Jenkins wanted to know if Stevens hadn't told Adams the McCarthy inquiry into alleged subversion in the Army was "embarrassing" to him (Stevens).

"He did not, sir," replied Adams.

Jenkins asked whether Adams didn't know he had been employed as "sort of a diplomat, a peacemaker, a go-between" to handle the Army's relations with McCarthy.

"I didn't know that then and I don't know it now," Adams replied.

He added that relations with the McCarthy subcommittee, as with other congressional committees, were part of his duties but were not the "primary" reason for his employment.

Turning to the McCarthy investigation of the Army radar laboratories at Monmouth, Jenkins asked whether the Army had suspended any employes as poor security risks before Sen. McCarthy began

No Points of Order Raised At Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The McCarthy-Army hearings set some kind of a record yesterday. No one raised a point of order.

The nearest thing to the parliamentary wrangles distinguishing the 14 preceding days' sessions was the "clearing up of a misunderstanding" at th start of the day's hearing.

Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins, Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) and Army Counsel Joseph N. Welch got that all straightened out in jig time. It had to do with whether Welch talked to McCarthy on the phone the day before.

When it was shown that he hadn't, Welch made a suggestion which may have had something to do with the ensuing calm. The Boston attorney amiably proposed:

"Let's put on a kind of grin of some sort, and all smile at each other a little if we can, and go on with the next witness."

Heavy GI Casualties Seen In Atomic War

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS, Allied Powers in Europe (AP) — Atomic weapons are expected to double the number of casualties suffered by American armed forces if war should come, the chairman of the 13-nation Allied Medical Conference says.

"Instead of thinking in terms of 6 to 8 per cent of our forces as casualties, we are counting on having 12 to 16 per cent of our men injured," Brig. Gen. William J. Kennard, U. S. Air Force, told reporters after the three-day medical discussion closed yesterday.

"Some services will suffer even greater casualties," he said.

Leaders Convene On Atomic Ban

Big 5 Delegates Seek End To Arms Race

LONDON (AP) — The world's five leading atomic powers meet in this H-bomb-wary capital today in quest of a pact ending the arms race and outlawing atomic and germ warfare.

There were guarded hints from British and American informants that the Western nations, jointly or individually, might put forward revised proposals in a bid to break the years-long deadlock with Russia on the issues.

The secret talks at the British government's stately Lancaster House are under United Nations auspices.

The group is meeting as a subcommittee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission.

Recent disclosures of effects of hydrogen-bomb-test explosions gave new urgency.

Revelations stemming from U.S. tests in the Pacific touched off a chain reaction of nervousness in many parts of the globe and especially in this exposed island. This led the Churchill government to propose that a new effort at control should be made in London.

There were no clues to the possible nature of any new Western proposals for disarming or atomic and germ warfare control.

To start the talks, however, the four Western Powers — the United States, Britain, France and Canada — were reported planning to stand on their old position that establishment of reliable enforcement machinery must precede any ban on atomic weapons.

The West apparently wanted to see whether the Soviets have anything to offer either in the form of concessions or new ideas.

Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd is Britain's cheif delegate at the talks. Morehead Patterson, an industrialist, represents the United States. The other delegates at the opening meeting were Foreign Secretary Lester B. Pearson for Canada, former Defense Minister Jules Moch for France and Ambassador Jacob Molik for Russia.

The five-power group started its discussions with these long-standing rival proposals before it:

Atomic weapons: The "Baruch Plan" of the West would create a world authority to control all dangerous aspects of atomic energy development. It would have complete inspection and enforcement rights. Later existing stocks of atomic weapons would be destroyed.

Russia wants atomic weapons banned immediately and an international control organ set up with full inspection rights. The organ would be subject to the U.N. Security Council, where the Soviets have the right of veto.

Conventional weapons: A Western proposal of 1952 calls for a census of the powers' armaments to be followed by international verification. The Western Allies also proposed limitation of the American, Soviet and Chinese armed forces to a million men each, and on the British and French armed forces to 750,000 men each.

Russia demanded simply a one-third cut of the armed forces of the Big Five, which would preserve the Communist world's considerable superiority in the number of men under arms.

Germ warfare: Russia has urged that a convention, on the lines of the Geneva convention banning the use of poison gas, be written to prevent the use of all weapons and means of mass destruction, whether by germs or atomic weapons.

The West claims that such a convention without provision for sanctions or inspection would be worthless.

Ohio Districts Split $6,496,878 Fees

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's municipalities and counties split a $6,496,878 melon yesterday. It was the final distribution of 1953 motor vehicle license fees of which counties got 47 per cent, municipalities 25 per cent and the state highway department 23 per cent.

The other five per cent went into an equalization fund for distribution to counties.

It was the last such distribution by State Auditor James A. Rhodes on that formula. The new formula, adopted by the last Legislature, cuts off the highway department share. That 23 per cent will go in the future to local governments—9 per cent to counties, 9 per cent to municipalities and 5 per cent to townships.

The highway department was cut out of the distribution. Instead it will get the penny-a-gallon gasoline tax increase and the axle-mile tax on big trucks adopted by the same Legislature.

Bender Elected To 9th Term As GOP Chairman

CLEVELAND (AP)—Senate aspirant George H. Bender has been elected to his ninth straight two-year term as Cuyahoga County Republican chairman, and immediately turned over the leadership to three of his aides.

"For the next five months I shall regra dmy job as county chairman as an honorary assignment," said the Ohio Representative who will oppose Democratic Senator Thomas A. Burke in the elections.

Boy Chases Ground Ball, Ends Up with Inoculation

SAN LEANDRO, Calif. (AP)—Dennis Carlson, 9-year-old third baseman on an elementary school baseball team, started out chasing a grounder yesterday and ended up receiving a tetanus innoculation.

Dennis reached into a hole for the elusive ball and a ground squirrel bit his finger.

Tariff Laws Eyed Closely By Ohioans

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sometime before July 1, Congress will reach some sort of a decision on tariff laws. Whatever the decision, thousands of people in Ohio—that huge factory of widely diversifed products—are going to be unhappy.

Representatives of more than a dozen industries in the Buckeye State are working hard on Capitol Hill trying to convince congressman tariffs should be raised to protect American industry and workers from "cutthroat foreign competition."

Other industries — some of whose products the manufacturers of other nations cannot duplicate so cheaply—are just as vociferously demanding tariff reductions.

Best guess in Washington at the moment seems to be: Neither side will win this year; Congress seems likely to continue the present law another year and put off the tariff showdown until 1955.

Many who want higher tarrifs point to Europe and Japan to explain why there is widespread unemployment in Ohio. They declare "cutthroat" foreign competition is hurting workers in industries which produce pottery, bicycles, ships, glass, rubber footwear, tile, matches, lace, cordage, woodscrews, wall paper, leather goods, wines and fishing tackle.

Says O. R. Strackbein, chairman of the nationwide committee of industry, agriculture and labor on import-export policy:

"Ohio is in the forefront of states whose economies depend on industries now battling to survive cutthroat foreign competition."

Strackbein's committee is representing Ohio industries which want increased tariffs and who are opposing Eisenhower's proposal for further reductions.

The Committee for a National Trade Policy, headed by Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati, speaks up for the other side of the argument.

The sponsors of this committee, generally speaking, are mass-production industries making things like automobiles and parts, steel, electrical machinery and rubber products. They have little to fear from foreign competition because they can make their products more cheaply than can European or Japanese firms.

Lower tariffs would make it possible for people of other nations to buy more of these American-made products.

And it's important to sell more of these products overseas, the low-tariff group declares, because far more Ohioans are engaged in producing them than in manufacturing the items on which high tariffs are demanded.

Consumer Buying Power

The CIO emergency conference on unemployment this week went straight to the heart of the matter. Its 300 delegates agreed unanimously that the slowdown in the pace of manufacturing had been caused by lack of consumer buying power.

Therefore, the way to step up the pace of manufacturing is to overcome the lack of consumer buying power, according to the thinking of the CIO. Its executive board last March said this could be done best by liberalizing personal income tax exemptions, increasing minimum wages, increasing wages generally, increasing unemployment compensation, increasing federal spending for housing, increasing social security payments, increasing farm price supports, spending more mnoey on public works, encouraging small businesses to get started and putting pressure on state and local government to start anti-recession action; i.e., to spend more money on public works.

A month ago these ideas were incorporated in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Roosevelt of New York. The bill was construed as young Roosevelt's opening bid for the governorship of New York and, subsequently the presidency of the United States.

No one is in a mood to criticize anyone's ideas for stepping up the pace of manufacturing and thereby the rate of employment. But the CIO, which didn't really get started until the first rumblings of World War II had stimulated premonitions of the war boom which was to last until 1949 then be stepped up again by the war in Korea, must have heard about an older Roosevelt's attempts to increase consumer buying power by cheapening the value of money.

A man cannot lift himself by tugging on his bootstraps, and an economy cannot increase its purchasing power by cheapening the value of its currency.

A Mighty Victory

The St. Lawrence seaway could have been constructed as a joint United States and Canadian project a third of a century ago if the right people had pushed it.

Instead, the people with the most money and the strongest influence opposed it. So the seaway had to be built piecemeal in those sections lying wholly within Canadian jurisdiction.

The United States was barred from participation by powerful lobbies financed by railroads, railroad unions, Atlantic and Gulf ports, the coal industry, miners' unions, the electric-power industry and, at one time, the fiancial interests which exploited iron-ore deposits in Minnesota.

Meanwhile, Canada continued to build all the parts of the seaway it could build and finally was prepared to build the last vital link without United States preticipation. At this point, the United States decided the time had come to put its national interest ahead of the interests which had lobbied its participation in the seaway to a standstill for a third of a century. Congress has approved a seaway proposal.

It is a mighty victory. But it should not be misunderstood. It is not a victory for the seaway but only for the principle that the United States should have an official share in its construction and therefore in the operation of a vital facility in world commerce.

When the work finally is finished in some eight more years, people will wonder why it took so long to complete the most logical improvement on natural geography since the Suez and Panama canals.

Let no one have a memory so short as to forget that it could have been done after World War I. Failure to do it for another third of a century is perhaps the outstanding accomplishment of negative lobbying in the annals of pressure-bloc politicking in Congress.

High Crime In Dairyland

Our thoughts are with the sheriff of Outagamie County in Wisconsin — America's dairyland. He has been caught red-handed in the high crime of serving oleo to prisoners in the county jail.

This is like being caught serving Virginia apples in Macon instead of Georgia peaches, eating Philadelphia scrapple in Boston instead of baked beans, using strawberry preserves instead of maple syrup on pancakes in Vermont, or smuggling peanut-butter sandwiches into a baseball park instead of munching on hot dogs.

It is like showing up with a sense of humor in the grim atmosphere of Washington, wondering about the barbarism involved in a boxing match, getting caught with a comic book in Latin II and ordering a ham on bun with an order of grape pot at the Stork Club.

A chronic offender would be convicted on a charge of treason.

The sheriff of Outagamie County in Wisconsin is in trouble. The fellow must be an interloper who does not understand that in Wisconsin butter is compulsory. They even grease cars with it.

Crisis Imminent?

Reds May Force Early Action In Indochina

GENEVA

Maybe before many weeks have elapsed President Eisenhower will be standing in the presence of both houses of Congress with a request for a joint resolution authorizing the use of the armed forces of the United States to meet certain contingencies.

These mgiht arise suddenly at some future time in the Western Pacific and could require immediate action then without the opportunity to consult Congress.

Such an unprecedented move has been under consideration in Washington as a precatuionary measure, but the events that could shape a decision by the President to go before Congress fortunately have not occurred as yet. They could conceivably happen as a consequnece of a fateful turn in Communist policy, which now is suddenly stepping up military aid from Red. China to the Communists in Indochina.

Flushed with their success at Dien Bien Phu, the Communists are beginning to act at Geneva as if they want to prolong the session indefinitely while their military effort in Indochina is accelerated.

IT WILL BE recalled that Secretary Dulles last Friday night made this significant statement during the course of his speech: "The Chinese Communists have been supplying the forces of Vietminh rebels with munitions, trucks, anti-aircraft guns, radar technical advisers. They have, however, stopped short of open intervention. In this respect, they may have been deterred by the warnings which the United States has given that such intervention would lead to grave consequences which might not be confined to Indochina."

Gen. Navarre, the French commander in Indochina, has been quoted as saying that a regiment of Red Chinese infantry has been fighting alongside the rebels in Indochina. This comes close to challenging the true meaning of the American pronouncement and, when matters get so close to the edge of war, it is natural for the Eisenhower administration to begin considering ways and means of meeting such a challenge.

It can readily be imagined what President Eisenhower would say to Congress. He would naturally remind the American people that the armistice was signed in Korea on the assumption that the aggression which had been repelled there would not now be renewed in another part of the Pacific area with munitions and troops released by th eneding of the fighting in Korea.

Would the Democrats, whose administration ordered the defense against aggression in Korea in 1950, now back away from a move to make sure that the sacrifices which have been made in that country were not in vain?

Would they venture to dissent from the judgment of a man whose military experience led him to conclude that American interests were in jeopardy and that the way to prevent a larger war was to take timely action now to halt the further spread of the Communist armies into the territory of the free world?

IT IS UNLIKELY — once a decision to ask for authority to use our armed forces is presented to Congress — that such a request would be denied. Former President Truman was quoted the other day as saying that he didn't ask Congress when he ordered our forces into Korea, but Mr. Eisenhower gave the American people a pledge that he would not do so without the authority of a congressional resolution.

It is true that Mr. Truman considered he did not have to ask Congress for specific authority because America had signed a treaty undertaking to carry out the obligations of the United Nations Charter. There is no United Nations relationship to the Indochina dispute, unless it be in the fact that troops taken away from Korea now have been used for a further aggression against the territory of the French Union, which is a member of the United Nations.

The Paris government has been reluctant to let the matter go to the United Nations, not only because it would furnish a precedent for mischievous by-play on the Tunisian and Moroccan issues but because of the certainty that the question would merely drag on without a decision.

Circumstances have arisen, however, which might make it desirable for the question to go to the United Nations after all, and Mr. Eisenhower might find it desirable to ask for a joint resolution from Congress at the same time. If the Communist aggression in Indochina is to be halted, it apparently will not be done at the conference table in Geneva. The Soviet delegation shows no signs of moderating the demands of its satellite in Indochina and the danger is that, counitn ogn the recently exhibited weakness and dissension of the Allies, further military moves will be made by Red China that would overnight alter the whole world situation.

REGRETTABLY, military force is the only language the Communists have shown any signs of respecting America has no desire to move alone in these troublous times but, until the Congress of the United States has acted, other nations will wonder if any such authority will ever be forthcoming.

So, as a means of bringing about a strong united alliance in defense of Indochina and in order to strengthen America's hand in negotiations with its allies by making the words of warning already given really meaningful, President Eisenhower may find he has no other course but to lay all the facts before the two houses and ask for the necessary authority to act — in cooperation, of course, with our allies. The crisis seems nearer than most people think.

Social Security's Long Arm

It's getting so a man can't even run away from home any more without the federal government sticking its nose into the affair.

Time was when a husband, tired of a nagging wife and a houseful of squawking kids, could leave his marital obligations at the door and silently steal away.

If he were the fearless, masculine type, he could even desert without too much strain on his conscience. After all, those he left behind would get enough from the welfare agencies to exist.

If he skipped far enough, no nasty gendarme was likely to remind him of his escape.

No more, Bub. That little Social Security card you carry is as good as a return-trip ticket. It may take eight months or so, but one day a man in uniform is going to yank you right out of that poolroom retreat.

It's all because the federal government provides a 313 million dollar chunk of the welfare funds that go to some 1,800,000 dependent children and adults. Back in 1952 Congress got concerned because so many of the taxpayers' dollars were going to the families of errant husbands. The lawmakers passed an amendment to the Social Security statute that holds up federal aid until the local welfare agency has exhausted all means of finding the wandering husband.

To the federal Social Security Administration, "all means" included a check through the Social Security files.

Just a year ago, lists of names of the mssing husbands began coming into the SSA from state welfare agencies. Somewhere in the master files of more than 90,000,000 workers, 3,500,000 employers who file quarterly reports of earnings for their workers, and 5,000,000 self-employed workers, the agency is likely to find the place of employment of the errant husband.

This information is sent back to the state officials, who then put the bee on the man to make him support his family.

The federal agency doesn't know just how many leads it has given to the states. No count was kept until last February. During that month, the SSA put the finger on 1,166 runaways. Another monthly count will be made in about six months to get some idea of how much of a job the checking entails.

Before you tear up that Social Security card, however, consider this: It may bring you a handsome legacy.

Uncle Ef Says

All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.Psalms 22:29.

He's Gonna Make Up His Mind Any Time Now, Folks

Troublesome Questions

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Gen. Mark Clark, on occasion, breaks through the conspiracy of cover-up which is so characteristic of government officials and particularly officers of the Army. The cover - up is a disease in our society. Men who know of specific wrongs are torn between loyalty to the crops and country. To many of them, the greatest crime is to damage the corps, the better ones believing that ultimately they will find a way to cure the ills of which they are conscious.

Sokolsky

The evidence is that no group succeeds in cleansing itself without pressure from outside.

Gen. Mark Clark has faced the problem realistically. He has insisted that the American people must know the truth.

APPARENTLY sp far as he is concerned, he will tell the truth as he knows it. On the radio program, "Three - Star Extra," he said:

"There were indications that Communists had been planted in our Army to try to sap the power of the United States through well conceived campaigns to demobilize too quickly. Two secretaries of state, Byrnes and Marshall, had told me that their names were signed to some important messages, but the ones I refer to were answers to important radios I had sent them personally."

The McCarthy - Stevens investigation has brought forth evidence that the chain of command operation often leaves the head of a government agency without adequate knowledge of what occurs in his department. Documents are issued in his name of which he knows nothing. This actually appears in the testimony. The argument that no man can look after all the details is not good enough.

WHEN A MAN of Gen. Clark's position can testify that he received instructions in the name of the secretary of state about which the secretary did not know, the country is in peril. How much of this sort of thing goes on?

CLARK SAID on the broadcast: "Byrnes said he never saw a message which told me not to take my own staff from Vienna to London for the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in January of 1947. Marshall told me he never saw the message which gave me similar instructions about the staff to go to Moscow for the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in March of the same year. Apparently someone in the State Department had taken action on those messages without the knowledge of the chiefs.

"These were things I knew from my own experience when the Alger Hiss case broke."

He concluded his talk with this sinister statement:

"The nagging fear was that perhaps Communists had wormed their way so deeply into our government on both the working and planning levels that they were able to exercise an inordinate degree of power in shaping the course of America in the dangerous postwar era.

"I could not help wondering and worrying whether we were faced with open enemies across the conference table and hidden enemies who sat with us in our most secret council."

IT IS POSSIBLE perhaps to ignore similar warnings when they are made by a columnist such as myself or by a senator such as Joe McCarthy, but when a military officer of Mark Clark's responsibility and experience says all this publicly in a broadcast, out of his own experience, it is impossible to ignore what he says.

What instructions went to Gen. Eisenhower, Gen. MacArthur, or any other commander in Europe or Asia of which the responsible authoritits in the State Department or even the White House knew nothing?

We have the records of Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White and a few others, but what did Lauchlin Currie and Michael Greenberg do in the White House? A small part of their records appeared in the Institute of Pacific Relations inquiry under Sen. McCarran, but how much more is there to it? Who kept them on the government payroll? Who let Currie and Greenberg leave the United States so that they are not available for interrogation?

Gen. Clark has raised troublesome questions which require an answer. Do we have so loose a system of administration that subordinates deal with matters of policy without authoriy?

That Other Job

By TRUMAN TWILL

The talk turned, as it frequently does among people who are not sure of their own destiny, to whether or not those present thought they were working at their highest aptitudes.

If you've never tried on this one for size, you have something to look forward to the next time the conversation lags. Whether or not most people really are fed up with what they're doing is doubtful. But give people a chance to talk about what they think they'd prefer to be doing and some strange ideas come out of the woodwork.

I have been convinced for 20 years that I would have preferred to be a clergyman, if I had been able to make an intelligence preference at the outset of what seems to be turning into a misspent life.

I have known two successful doctors of medicine who insisted their now great ambition was to write down words on peices of paper.

I know a youngish matron, the mother of two lovely daughters and the helpmeet of a successful professional man who confides that she scribbles endlessly and then hides the scribblings because she is ashamed of her desire to express herself. Once in a blue moon, she lets some of her scribblings be seen — and they're good. But she sticks at housewifery.

Most lawyers think they were cut out to be politicians, which is why more than half of all politicians are lawyers.

The clowns all want to play "Hamlet," and the heavies would prefer to wear cap and bells and do pratfalls for the kiddies.

Publishers of newspapers invariably are sure they could have been their own star reporters, never realizing this would have left them no time to be publishers.

Professional baseball players are sure they could have done as well if they had been professional golfers, instead.

People who would have to be carried off to the hospital on a door if they tried it will tell you they could have been outstanding bricklayers.

Janitors universally are certain in their own minds they could have been bang - up executives if they had been given a break.

School teachers, although they tend more than ordinarily to be a dedicated minority, always know more about school administration than the administrators know.

As the talk went on and on about whether or not those present thought they were working at their highest aptitudes, there was agreement on this: every man is entitled to a second guess about what his highest aptitude really might have been if he had tested it before making up his mind.

I would have disliked being a clergyman on Sunday as much as I dislike being a newspaper fellow or anything else that involves toil on Monday. The only way to know for certain, though, would be to switch over and be a clergyman for a couple of decades.

Let us pray, brothers and sisters.

Psychiatry And Global Affairs

Psychiatry was urged in settling international troubles by Dr. Kenneth Appel at a St. Louis convention of the American Psychiatric Society. "It would be highly profitable in world disputes," he declared. Fine, doc. But the trouble is that today it is hard to find a nation that even trusts a couch. There are countries that take the suggestion "Lie down and relax" as a threat.

Turning the United Nations skyscraper into the tallest Psychiatric Center on Earth, a sort of World Hall of Sofas, is an intriguing idea, nevertheless. Fancy the suggestion being applied in a current discussion of Indo-China:

Uncle Sam—This is a clear act of aggression and cails for immediate action.

Britain—There must be no appeasement.

Uncle Sam—Let us strike a ringing blow for freedom by calling in a psychiatrist at once!

France—Is there a psychiatrist in the house?

India—there is a psychiatrist in the house but he just asked Vishinsky to lie on a sofa and Andrei is now lying on him.

Psychiatrist (showing up later)—Gentlemen, you sent for me?

Uncle Sam—The fate of civilization is at the crossroads.

Psychiatrist—What? Again!!! State your troubles. (As all start talking at once.) Never mind. I can see you are all off your rockers. Let us proceed. Will Russia take the couch and relate what is bothering her?

Russia—It will save time if I state what is NOT bothering me I demand that Uncle Sam be put on the couch first.

Psychiatrist—Any objections?

Uncle Sam—In the interests of harmony let us all lie on the couch together.

Psychiatrist—We haven't a couch that can take it.

Russia—The couch is an instrument of the capitalistic world. . . It is a device of Wall Street!. . . Only warmongers lie down and relax.

France—Can't we get this psychiatric treatment standing on our feet?

Russia—I get my best results standing on my head.

Exploiters—Enemies of the people! Murderers!

Psychiatrist—Relax, please.

Russia—If you don't think I am relaxing now you should hear me when I'm tense.

Uncle Sam—What is India's attitude here?

India—I'm trying to figure out how the word "abstention" sounds from a couch. And is there any way psychiatric treatment can be taken while STRADDLING A FENCE?

To The News: With three children in Junior High and High School music units which have recently performed in concerts, I wish to call attention to the quality of the music performed.

Just to have learned and understood the compositions on the recent high school band program is a deep spiritual education in itself for our children.

In our delight in the technical ability and cooperation of our singing units and the grand showing of our marching band, we, as parents, are apt to forget the appreciation of fine music these young people have acquired, which will be a source of inspiration and pleasure all their lives.

As a mother in this community, I am extremely grateful to our competent, devoted teachers and the school board which had the foresight to employ them.

Consumer Buying Power

The CIO emergency conference on unemployment this week went straight to the heart of the matter. Its 300 delegates agreed unanimously that the slowdown in the pace of manufacturing had been caused by lack of consumer buying power.

Therefore, the way to step up the pace of manufacturing is to overcome the lack of consumer buying power, according to the thinking of the CIO. Its executive board last March said this could be done best by liberalizing personal income tax exemptions, increasing minimum wages, increasing wages generally, increasing unemployment compensation, increasing federal spending for housing, increasing social security payments, increasing farm price supports, spending more mnoey on public works, encouraging small businesses to get started and putting pressure on state and local government to start anti-recession action; i.e., to spend more money on public works.

A month ago these ideas were incorporated in a bill introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. Roosevelt of New York. The bill was construed as young Roosevelt's opening bid for the governorship of New York and, subsequently, the presidency of the United States.

No one is in a mood to criticize anyone's ideas for stepping up the pace of manufacturing and thereby the rate of employment. But the CIO, which didn't really get started until the first rumblings of World War II had stimulated premonitions of the war boom which was to last until 1949 then be stepped up again by the war in Korea, must have heard about an older Roosevelt's attempts to increase consumer buying power by cheapening the value of money.

A man cannot lift himself by tugging on his bootstraps, and an economy cannot increase its purchasing power by cheapening the value of its currency.

A Mighty Victory

The St. Lawrence seaway could have been constructed as a joint United States and Canadian project a third of a century ago if the right people had pushed it.

Instead, the people with the most money and the strongest influence opposed it. So the seaway had to be built piecemeal in those sections lying wholly within Canadian jurisdiction.

The United States was barred from participation by powerful lobbies financed by railroads, railroad unions, Atlantic and Gulf ports, the coal industry, miners' unions, the electric-power industry and, at one time, the fiancial interests which exploited iron-ore deposits in Minnesota.

Meanwhile, Canada continued to build all the parts of the seaway it could build and finally was prepared to build the last vital link without United States preticipation. At this point, the United States decided the time had come to put its national interest ahead of the interests which had lobbied its participation in the seaway to a standstill for a third of a century. Congress has approved a seaway proposal.

It is a mighty victory. But it should not be misunderstood. It is not a victory for the seaway but only for the principle that the United States should have an official share in its construction and therefore in the operation of a vital facility in world commerce.

When the work finally is finished in some eight more years, people will wonder why it took so long to complete the most logical improvement on natural geography since the Suez and Panama canals.

Let no one have a memory so short as to forget that it could have been done after World War I. Failure to do it for another third of a century is perhaps the outstanding accomplishment of negative lobbying in the annals of pressure-bloc politicking in Congress.

High Crime In Dairyland

Our thoughts are with the sheriff of Outagamie County in Wisconsin — America's dairyland. He has been caught red-handed in the high crime of serving oleo to prisoners in the county jail.

This is like being caught serving Virginia apples in Macon instead of Georgia peaches, eating Philadelphia scrapple in Boston instead of baked beans, using strawberry preserves instead of maple syrup on pancakes in Vermont, or smuggling peanut-butter sandwiches into a baseball park instead of munching on hot dogs.

It is like showing up with a sense of humor in the grim atmosphere of Washington, wondering about the barbarism involved in a boxing match, getting caught with a comic book in Latin II and ordering a ham on bun with an order of grape pot at the Stork Club.

A chronic offender would be convicted on a charge of treason.

The sheriff of Outagamie County in Wisconsin is in trouble. The fellow must be an interloper who does not understand that in Wisconsin butter is compulsory. They even grease cars with it.

Crisis Imminent?

Reds May Force Early Action In Indochina

GENEVA

Maybe before many weeks have elapsed President Eisenhower will be standing in the presence of both houses of Congress with a request for a joint resolution authorizing the use of the armed forces of the United States to meet certain contingencies.

These mgiht arise suddenly at some future time in the Western Pacific and could require immediate action then without the opportunity to consult Congress.

Such an unprecedented move has been under consideration in Washington as a precatuionary measure, but the events that could shape a decision by the President to go before Congress fortunately have not occurred as yet. They could conceivably happen as a consequnece of a fateful turn in Communist policy, which now is suddenly stepping up military aid from Red. China to the Communists in Indochina.

Flushed with their success at Dien Bien Phu, the Communists are beginning to act at Geneva as if they want to prolong the session indefinitely while their military effort in Indochina is accelerated.

IT WILL BE recalled that Secretary Dulles last Friday night made this significant statement during the course of his speech: "The Chinese Communists have been supplying the forces of Vietminh rebels with munitions, trucks, anti-aircraft guns, radar technical advisers. They have, however, stopped short of open intervention. In this respect, they may have been deterred by the warnings which the United States has given that such intervention would lead to grave consequences which might not be confined to Indochina."

Gen. Navarre, the French commander in Indochina, has been quoted as saying that a regiment of Red Chinese infantry has been fighting alongside the rebels in Indochina. This comes close to challenging the true meaning of the American pronouncement and, when matters get so close to the edge of war, it is natural for the Eisenhower administration to begin considering ways and means of meeting such a challenge.

It can readily be imagined what President Eisenhower would say to Congress. He would naturally remind the American people that the armistice was signed in Korea on the assumption that the aggression which had been repelled there would not now be renewed in another part of the Pacific area with munitions and troops released by th eneding of the fighting in Korea.

Would the Democrats, whose administration ordered the defense against aggression in Korea in 1950, now back away from a move to make sure that the sacrifices which have been made in that country were not in vain?

Would they venture to dissent from the judgment of a man whose military experience led him to conclude that American interests were in jeopardy and that the way to prevent a larger war was to take timely action now to halt the further spread of the Communist armies into the territory of the free world?

IT IS UNLIKELY — once a decision to ask for authority to use our armed forces is presented to Congress — that such a request would be denied. Former President Truman was quoted the other day as saying that he didn't ask Congress when he ordered our forces into Korea, but Mr. Eisenhower gave the American people a pledge that he would not do so without the authority of a congressional resolution.

It is true that Mr. Truman considered he did not have to ask Congress for specific authority because America had signed a treaty undertaking to carry out the obligations of the United Nations Charter. There is no United Nations relationship to the Indochina dispute, unless it be in the fact that troops taken away from Korea now have been used for a further aggression against the territory of the French Union, which is a member of the United Nations.

The Paris government has been reluctant to let the matter go to the United Nations, not only because it would furnish a precedent for mischievous by-play on the Tunisian and Moroccan issues but because of the certainty that the question would merely drag on without a decision.

Circumstances have arisen, however, which might make it desirable for the question to go to the United Nations after all, and Mr. Eisenhower might find it desirable to ask for a joint resolution from Congress at the same time. If the Communist aggression in Indochina is to be halted, it apparently will not be done at the conference table in Geneva. The Soviet delegation shows no signs of moderating the demands of its satellite in Indochina and the danger is that, counitn ogn the recently exhibited weakness and dissension of the Allies, further military moves will be made by Red China that would overnight alter the whole world situation.

REGRETTABLY, military force is the only language the Communists have shown any signs of respecting America has no desire to move alone in these troublous times but, until the Congress of the United States has acted, other nations will wonder if any such authority will ever be forthcoming.

So, as a means of bringing about a strong united alliance in defense of Indochina and in order to strengthen America's hand in negotiations with its allies by making the words of warning already given really meaningful, President Eisenhower may find he has no other course but to lay all the facts before the two houses and ask for the necessary authority to act — in cooperation, of course, with our allies. The crisis seems nearer than most people think.

He's Gonna Make Up His Mind Any Time Now, Folks

Troublesome Questions

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

Gen. Mark Clark, on occasion, breaks through the conspiracy of cover-up which is so characteristic of government officials and particularly officers of the Army. The cover-up is a disease in our society. Men who know of specific wrongs are torn between loyalty to the crops and country. To many of them, the greatest crime is to damage the corps, the better ones believing that ultimately they will find a way to cure the ills of which they are conscious.

Sokolsky

The evidence is that no group succeeds in cleansing itself without pressure from outside.

Gen. Mark Clark has faced the problem realistically. He has insisted that the American people must know the truth.

APPARENTLY sp far as he is concerned, he will tell the truth as he knows it. On the radio program, "Three - Star Extra," he said:

"There were indications that Communists had been planted in our Army to try to sap the power of the United States through well conceived campaigns to demobilize too quickly. Two secretaries of state, Byrnes and Marshall, had told me that their names were signed to some important messages, but the ones I refer to were answers to important radios I had sent them personally."

The McCarthy - Stevens investigation has brought forth evidence that the chain of command operation often leaves the head of a government agency without adequate knowledge of what occurs in his department. Documents are issued in his name of which he knows nothing. This actually appears in the testimony. The argument that no man can look after all the details is not good enough.

WHEN A MAN of Gen. Clark's position can testify that he received instructions in the name of the secretary of state about which the secretary did not know, the country is in peril. How much of this sort of thing goes on?

CLARK SAID on the broadcast: "Byrnes said he never saw a message which told me not to take my own staff from Vienna to London for the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in January of 1947. Marshall told me he never saw the message which gave me similar instructions about the staff to go to Moscow for the Council of Foreign Ministers meeting in March of the same year. Apparently someone in the State Department had taken action on those messages without the knowledge of the chiefs.

"These were things I knew from my own experience when the Alger Hiss case broke."

He concluded his talk with this sinister statement:

"The nagging fear was that perhaps Communists had wormed their way so deeply into our government on both the working and planning levels that they were able to exercise an inordinate degree of power in shaping the course of America in the dangerous postwar era.

"I could not help wondering and worrying whether we were faced with open enemies across the conference table and hidden enemies who sat with us in our most secret council."

IT IS POSSIBLE perhaps to ignore similar warnings when they are made by a columnist such as myself or by a senator such as Joe McCarthy, but when a military officer of Mark Clark's responsibility and experience says all this publicly in a broadcast, out of his own experience, it is impossible to ignore what he says.

What instructions went to Gen. Eisenhower, Gen. MacArthur, or any other commander in Europe or Asia of which the responsible authoritits in the State Department or even the White House knew nothing?

We have the records of Alger Hiss and Harry Dexter White and a few others, but what did Lauchlin Currie and Michael Greenberg do in the White House? A small part of their records appeared in the Institute of Pacific Relations inquiry under Sen. McCarran, but how much more is there to it? Who kept them on the government payroll? Who let Currie and Greenberg leave the United States so that they are not available for interrogation?

Gen. Clark has raised troublesome questions which require an answer. Do we have so loose a system of administration that subordinates deal with matters of policy without authoriy?

Social Security's Long Arm

It's getting so a man can't even run away from home any more without the federal government sticking its nose into the affair.

Time was when a husband, tired of a nagging wife and a houseful of squawking kids, could leave his marital obligations at the door and silently steal away.

If he were the fearless, masculine type, he could even desert without too much strain on his conscience. After all, those he left behind would get enough from the welfare agencies to exist.

If he skipped far enough, no nasty gendarme was likely to remind him of his escape.

No more, Bub. That little Social Security card you carry is as good as a return-trip ticket. It may take eight months or so, but one day a man in uniform is going to yank you right out of that poolroom retreat.

It's all because the federal government provides a 313 million dollar chunk of the welfare funds that go to some 1,800,000 dependent children and adults. Back in 1952 Congress got concerned because so many of the taxpayers' dollars were going to the families of errant husbands. The lawmakers passed an amendment to the Social Security statute that holds up federal aid until the local welfare agency has exhausted all means of finding the wandering husband.

To the federal Social Security Administration, "all means" included a check through the Social Security files.

Just a year ago, lists of names of the mssing husbands began coming into the SSA from state welfare agencies. Somewhere in the master files of more than 90,000,000 workers, 3,500,000 employers who file quarterly reports of earnings for their workers, and 5,000,000 self-employed workers, the agency is likely to find the place of employment of the errant husband.

This information is sent back to the state officials, who then put the bee on the man to make him support his family.

The federal agency doesn't know just how many leads it has given to the states. No count was kept until last February. During that month, the SSA put the finger on 1,166 runaways. Another monthly count will be made in about six months to get some idea of how much of a job the checking entails.

Before you tear up that Social Security card, however, consider this: It may bring you a handsome legacy.

All they that be fat upon earth shall eat and worship: all they that go down to the dust shall bow before him: and none can keep alive his own soul.Psalms 22:29.

That Other Job

By TRUMAN TWILL

The talk turned, as it frequently does among people who are not sure of their own destiny, to whether or not those present thought they were working at their highest aptitudes.

If you've never tried on this one for size, you have something to look forward to the next time the conversation lags. Whether or not most people really are fed up with what they're doing is doubtful. But give people a chance to talk about what they think they'd prefer to be doing and some strange ideas come out of the woodwork.

I have been convinced for 20 years that I would have preferred to be a clergyman, if I had been able to make an intelligence preference at the outset of what seems to be turning into a misspent life.

I have known two successful doctors of medicine who insisted their now great ambition was to write down words on peices of paper.

I know a youngish matron, the mother of two lovely daughters and the helpmeet of a successful professional man who confides that she scribbles endlessly and then hides the scribblings because she is ashamed of her desire to express herself. Once in a blue moon, she lets some of her scribblings be seen — and they're good. But she sticks at housewifery.

Most lawyers think they were cut out to be politicians, which is why more than half of all politicians are lawyers.

The clowns all want to play "Hamlet," and the heavies would prefer to wear cap and bells and do pratfalls for the kiddies.

Publishers of newspapers invariably are sure they could have been their own star reporters, never realizing this would have left them no time to be publishers.

Professional baseball players are sure they could have done as well if they had been professional golfers, instead.

People who would have to be carried off to the hospital on a door if they tried it will tell you they could have been outstanding bricklayers.

Janitors universally are certain in their own minds they could have been bang - up executives if they had been given a break.

School teachers, although they tend more than ordinarily to be a dedicated minority, always know more about school administration than the administrators know.

As the talk went on and on about whether or not those present thought they were working at their highest aptitudes, there was agreement on this: every man is entitled to a second guess about what his highest aptitude really might have been if he had tested it before making up his mind.

I would have disliked being a clergyman on Sunday as much as I dislike being a newspaper fellow or anything else that involves toil on Monday. The only way to know for certain, though, would be to switch over and be a clergyman for a couple of decades.

Let us pray, brothers and sisters.

Psychiatry And Global Affairs

Psychiatry was urged in settling international troubles by Dr. Kenneth Appel at a St. Louis convention of the American Psychiatric Society. "It would be highly profitable in world disputes," he declared. Fine, doc. But the trouble is that today it is hard to find a nation that even trusts a couch. There are countries that take the suggestion "Lie down and relax" as a threat.

Turning the United Nations skyscraper into the tallest Psychiatric Center on Earth, a sort of World Hall of Sofas, is an intriguing idea, nevertheless. Fancy the suggestion being applied in a current discussion of Indo-China:

Uncle Sam—This is a clear act of aggression and cails for immediate action.

Britain—There must be no appeasement.

Uncle Sam—Let us strike a ringing blow for freedom by calling in a psychiatrist at once!

France—Is there a psychiatrist in the house?

India—there is a psychiatrist in the house but he just asked Vishinsky to lie on a sofa and Andrei is now lying on him.

Psychiatrist (showing up later)—Gentlemen, you sent for me?

Uncle Sam—The fate of civilization is at the crossroads.

Psychiatrist—What? Again!!! State your troubles. (As all start talking at once.) Never mind. I can see you are all off your rockers. Let us proceed. Will Russia take the couch and relate what is bothering her?

Russia—It will save time if I state what is NOT bothering me I demand that Uncle Sam be put on the couch first.

Psychiatrist—Any objections?

Uncle Sam—In the interests of harmony let us all lie on the couch together.

Psychiatrist—We haven't a couch that can take it.

Russia—The couch is an instrument of the capitalistic world. . . It is a device of Wall Street!. . . Only warmongers lie down and relax.

France—Can't we get this psychiatric treatment standing on our feet?

Russia—I get my best results standing on my head.

Exploiters—Enemies of the people! Murderers!

Psychiatrist—Relax, please.

Russia—If you don't think I am relaxing now you should hear me when I'm tense.

Uncle Sam—What is India's attitude here?

India—I'm trying to figure out how the word "abstention" sounds from a couch. And is there any way psychiatric treatment can be taken while STRADDLING A FENCE?

ized in Hanoi to staff the Dakota transport planes which will bring out the wounded. Most of them were to be brought to Hanoi.

The wife of Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, commander of the Dien Bien Phu garrison, arranged to fly to Luang Prabang today in hopes of word of her husband when Huard returns. The Vietminh radio has announced only that De Castries was captured when the fortress fell; there has been no word if he was wounded.

Drop Food, Ice

The French announced their transports had dropped more than nine tons of ice, food, medical supplies and equipment for the wounded concentrated near the battlefield of Dien Bien Phu. The Vietminh have marked off the entire area with red crosses and assembled the French casualties in tents there. Doctors in the fortress when it fell are attending the wounded.

The trip to Dien Bien Phu was Huard's second such mercy mission to the Vietminh.

In Indochina since 1933, he long has been prominent in Red Cross work and is widely respected by the Vietnamese. After the French defeat at Caobang in October 1950, he took a leading role in arranging for evacuation of hundreds of French held by the rebels.

Indochina

also has given little cause for optimism.

Offered 3 Plans

There are three plans before the conference — from France, Viet Nam and the Vietminh.

The French have proposed an internationally supervised armistice, with both sides withdrawing into zones set by the conference. War prisoners and civilian internees would be released, and the Vietminh would get out of Cambodia and Laos.

The Vietnamese regime of Bao Dai has asked recognition as the only legal government for Viet Nam, free elections under U. N supervision and international guarantee of the state of Viet Nam. Partition would not be permitted.

Reds Seek Rule

The rival Communist-led Vietminh also has demanded recognition as the legal regime for Viet Nam. It also wants recognition for the Communist "governments" of Laos and Cambodia, withdrawal of all foreign troops from Indochina and elections without international supervision.

The Communists have indicated they will take only the Vietminh plan, although Red China's Chou En-lai said yesterday he was insisting only that it be accepted as a basis for discussion.

The Western Powers are primarily concerned about making sure any armistice has proper international guarantees and supervision. They feel the same way about any elections held after a truce.

The United States has charged that the Communist plan, in its present form, would amount to surrender of Indochina to the Reds.

Health Board Group Interviews Doctor

LISBON — Three members of the Columbiana County Board of Health met for two hours Wednesday afternoon with Dr. George B. Pantera of Buffalo, applicant for the Columbiana County health commissioner's position.

Board members Howard Cole of Lisbon, Fred Johnson of Summitville and Stewart Curtis of Glenmoor interviewed the 43-year-old physician who practices at Myer Hospital in Buffalo.

Attorney Cole, who termed the meeting "favorable," said the board plans to act on the application at the regular meeting Monday night at 8.

Dr. John Porterfield, state director of health, informed the board today of a general cut in federal grants-in-aid of $1,300 yearly, effective July 1. The reduction is from $6,600 annually to $5,300.

Seaway

United States to join Canada in building a waterway deep enough to let ocean ships sail from the Atlantic as far inland as Toledo, Ohio, by going up the St. Lawrence River to the Great Lakes.

Engineers figure it will take about six years to complete the project. There is talk about extending the ocean channel all the way to Duluth, Minn. at the end of Lake Superior, but this will require further congressional action.

The seaway idea has been endorsed by every president beginning with Woodrow Wilson. Eisenhower has supported the project on grounds it would help both this nation's economy and its security.

Add Locks, Canals

The seaway will eliminate a navigation bottleneck in the International Rapids section of the St. Lawrence River which now allows passage of ships with only 14-foot draft or less. The project would deepen this to 27 feet and add necessary locks and canals.

The 46-mile rapids, beginning near Ogdensburg, N.Y., will also be dammed to permit construction of a vast 600-million-dollar electric power plant. This is a separate project being undertaken by New York state and the province of Ontario.

Without the power project, the seaway would not be economically practical.

The seaway bill passed the House a week ago today. The Senate, which took similar action in January, concurred Friday in minor amendments made by the House. Thus came to an end a legislative tussle of many years in which the seaway plan had always before been defeated.

Power Not Part of Bill

The power project, to be built concurrently with the seaway and designed to generate over 12 billion kilowatt hours of electricity yearly, is not a part of the bill.

A legal objection to New York's right to engage in the power project still remains to be resolved.

This legal tangle is delaying the start of work for the time being—the builders want to be sure their effort isn't wasted. So the final go-ahead is still weeks or perhaps months away.

Some units of the power project may be in operation ahead of the five to six years estimated for the seaway, but all main planning of both projects has been completed.

Could Proceed at Once

Robert Saunders, chairman of the Ontario Hydroelectric Commission that will build the Canadian portion of the power project, has announced that his group is prepared to proceed "within a matter of hours" after all obstacles have been surmounted.

The Power Authority of New York, the agency that will join with the hydro commission in the construction, is proceeding promptly with final engineering plans.

U. S. cost of the seaway development is estimated at 105 million dollars. The bill authorizes a St. Lawrence Development Corp. to raise that amount through sale of revenue bonds to the Treasury Department.

The bonds will be retired, through imposition of tolls on ships using the seaway, over a 50-year period.

The power project is being financed through private sale of revenue bonds. Several large financial houses have offered to underwrite the fund raising.

McCarthy

his inquiry in August and September of last year.

Adams denied it was true, as contended by McCarthy, that alleged security risks at the laboratories were suspended only because of the McCarthy subcommittee inquiry.

"I think, sir, that is not so," Adams told Jenkins.

He said Stevens had ordered a special FBI investigation of Monmouth early in the summer of 1953, shortly after a new White House executive order dealing with loyalty and security cases in government.

This was long before the McCarthy committee started its inquiry, Adams said. He added one employe was suspended Aug. 19 and six more in the latter part of September.

Started In October

So far as he knew, Adams said, the McCarthy committee started hearings on Monmouth late in October.

He said the McCarthy subcommittee had hearings in New York in August but they dealt with other parts of the Army and not with Monmouth.

Adams was under cross-examination at this stage. Jenkins, who takes a dual role first as direct examiner and then as cross-examiner, did all the questioning yesterday.

Under that questioning, Adams detailed his part in the bitter dispute between the Army and McCarthy over alleged "pressures" in behalf of former committee consultant G. David Schine.

He testified that Sen. McCarthy and Roy M. Cohn, general counsel for the McCarthy subcommittee, badgered him for favored Army treatment for Schine, wealthy New Yorker who had an unpaid post with the subcommittee before he was drafted last November.

Cohn "Declared War"

Jenkins recalled Adams had testified yesterday that Cohn declared "this is war" when barred from a secret laboratory at Monmouth last October, and that Adams was disturbed because he felt Cohn had the power to prolong the investigation.

Jenkins asked if that wasn't "an admission or a confession" that Adams wanted the investigation terminated.

It was not an admission or a confession, Adams replied. Adams added McCarthy had volunteered previous to the incident that he felt his committee had about completed its investigation and was Army to complete.

Jenkins asked whether Adams regarded a subversive and a poor preparing to turn it over to the security risk as "a potential spy."

Adams replied he considered a subversive to be a potential spy, but that a person could be a poor security risk for many reasons, including talking too much.

Says Subversives Dangerous

"Both subversives and spies are dangerous people," Adams commented.

Jenkins pressed Adams for an answer to the question whether "it was a matter of indifference" to him whether McCarthy and his aides continued or discontinued the investigation of Ft. Monmouth.

"That is correct," Adams finally told Jenkins.

Sitting beside Adams was James D. St. Clair, associate special counsel for the Army. St. Clair explained that Joseph N. Welch, the Army's special counsel, was absent because of "a stomach upset."

Adams agreed with Jenkins that it was important to ferret out subversives at Ft. Monmouth, saying:

"It always was important, and it always will be."

He added, also, that he "always considered the work of the McCarthy committee important."

But he declared the re-examination of security risk cases was already under way by the intelligence sections of the Army at Ft. Monmouth and the first Army in New York, and G-2 (Army intelligence) in Washington, by the time McCarthy moved into the picture.

Without a single point of order being raised, Adams unrolled yesterday a sequence of events capped by testimony that Sherman Adams, chief of the White House staff, had been first to suggest that he put into writing the Army charges against McCarthy which ultimately led to the current investigation. Sherman Adams had no comment.

Target Of Abuse, Claim

John Adams said he was the target of obscenity and abuse "extremely hard to bear," with Cohn delivering most of it. Cohn is normally the chief counsel and McCarthy the chairman of the subcommittee. Both have stepped from those roles temporarily for this inquiry.

Secretary of the Army Stevens and John Adams have accused McCarthy, Cohn and Francis P. Carr, the subcommittee's chief of staff, with exerting improper pressure to get favored Army treatment for Schine, who was drafted last November.

McCarthy and his aides have replied that Stevens and Adams sought to use Schine as a "hostage" to stop or divert their investigation of alleged Communists in the Army.

Suggested Chronology

John Adams testified that Sherman Adams suggested at a Justice Department conference last Jan. 21 that he prepare a chronology of events in the Schine case. A similar account, becoming public in mid-March, led to the present investigation.

The witness said that at the meeting were Atty. Gen. Brownell, deputy Atty. Gen. William Rogers, Presidential Assistant Gerald Morgan and Henry Cabot Lodge, American ambassador to the United Nations, in addition to Sherman Adams.

The New York Daily Mirror, in a dispatch from Washington, quoted McCarthy as saying he would ask the subcommittee to subpoena all five to testify.

The meeting was called, John Adams said, to seek Justice Department support for the Army's refusal to produce members of its loyalty screening board for testimony before McCarthy's subcommittee. Army officials had contended that presidential orders forbade disclosure of such loyalty information.

Learned Training Required

Adams testified that the demand for appearance of the loyalty board members came the day after Cohn, then vacationing in Florda, learned that Schine would have to train at Camp Gordon, Ga., longer than at first thought.

He said he described to the conference of high administration officials "the problem we were having over Pvt. Schine and how the two matters seemed to me to be related."

Adams said the conferees decided to have him call on members of the McCarthy subcommittee and he and Morgan talked to Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill).

"Sen. Dirksen said he would telephone Carr and request a delay in issuing of the subpoenas long enough for him to look into the matter," Adams testified.

Adams said the scheduled hearing later was canceled and Carr asked him "what Sen. Dirksen's sudden interest in the matter was."

Dirksen told reporters he may ask to take the stand later to explain his acion.

Crews Begin Work On Route 30 Project

Road crews from Sutton and Stewart, Bridgeport contractors, began today to clear the right of way for widening Route 30 in the California Hollow area north of East Liverpool.

George Gonzales of the Lisbon office of the State Highway Department said considerable brush must be cut and part of the hillside sliced away before excavation can begin. Two-way traffic, he said, will be maintained.

The $150,987 project, when completed about September 30, will provide a three-lane, mile and a quarter stretch from Memorial Park south to East Liverpool to accommodate slow-moving traffic.

The extra lane will make the highway 36 feet wide. Thirty-one hundred feet of guard rail will be erected, Gonzales said.

ADAMS TESTIFIES — Army counselor John Adams testifies before microphones on the witness stand on the 15th day of the McCarthy-Army hearing in Washington. Adams testified that columnist George Sokolsky once told him Sen. McCarthy would stop an investigation of the Army if Pvt. G. David Schine got an assignment he wanted. Adams described Roy Cohn, general counsel to McCarthy's subcommittee, as holding enormous power and resorting to threats in seeking favored treatment for Schine.

Poll Shows McCarthy Methods Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Red-hunting efforts of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) drew a majority vote of approval in a recent poll of a northern Ohio congressional district.

Rep. Bow (R-Ohio), who conducted the poll, said today support for the senator in his district ran 68 per cent for, with 25 per cent against and 7 per cent not replying.

The district covers the following counties: Stark (Canton-Massillon-Alliance), Tuscarawas (New Philadelphia-Dover) and Wayne (Wooster).

Bow mailed out 100,000 questionaires and got 18,362 replies. His office said most of the answers were sent in before the current televised hearing of the dispute between the Army and McCarthy started.

The McCarthy question was worded:

"Do you approve of the efforts of Sen. McCarthy to disclose the actions of Communists in this country?"

Heaviest approval came from Canton and North Canton—75 per cent. Wooster was low, with 53 per cent favoring his efforts.

In replies to other questions, 70 per cent supported President Eisenhower's flexible farm support program and 92 per cent opposed admitting Red China to the United Nations.

Denied New Trial

LISBON — Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp overruled a motion Wednesday for a new trial for Emerson Wingrove, proprietor of Crook's Restaurant on S. Market St.

He deferred sentencing Wingrove, who was found guilty last Thursday of assault upon Attorney Charles Pike of Lisbon about two years ago.

The tavern operator was convicted of attacking the lawyer with a glass bookend.

Lima Man Kills Wife, Self After Argument

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — A 52-year-old Lima man shot his sleeping wife to death early today, then killed himself with an old .303 caliber rifle, Coroner R. J. Beiry reported. He issued a verdict of murder and suicide.

Dead are Mr. and Mrs. Glen D. Heman. Sheriff Clay Cotterman said the reason behind the double killing was family trouble which started last February and came to a head yesterday when Mrs. Heman signed papers preliminary to the filing of a divorce petition.

A daughter, Carlene Marie, 13, told the sheriff her mother informed her father last night of the impending divorce action. She said that started a heavy argument, but she went to bed and slept until she was awakened by a shot at 5:45 a.m. today.

Trapped Bandits Kill Themselves

Pair Shoot Detective, Are Cornered by Police

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Two desperate gunmen committed suicide yesterday when they were cornered by police who sought them for critically wounding a detective in a movie theater.

Police Chief Howard O. Young said one of the fugitives, James Pollard, 26, of Stonington shot himself in the head as Young closed in on him in an apartment house attic.

Police said the other gunman, Clarence Rydstrom, 21, of Waterbury shot himself to death in a taxicab an hour later as police surrounded him with drawn guns.

Shot in a downtown movie was Detective Ralph Palma, 30. He was felled by two bullets in the chest as he wrestled with the pair.

Pollard and Rydstrom had been hunted all over the city's center yesterday in connection with a holdup Monday in Middlebury, where two bandits tied two women and escaped with $1,400 in cash, jewelry and bonds.

Palma, two other detectives and several state troopers went to the movie theater on a tip the fugitives were there.

Palma went into the seats and there was a scuffle. Suddenly two shots blazed and many of the 200 patrons dived under their seats.

The state troopers and other detectives said they held their fire lest stray bullets hit the patrons.

The fugitives escaped, but a short time later Pollard was trapped in the apartment house a few blocks from the theater. Rydstrom, meanwhile, had caught a cab.

Hundreds of police and thousands of spectators gathered outside the house. A squad of patrolmen fired tear gas bombs into the apartment, shouting to Pollard over loud speakers to come out. But there was only silence from the inside.

Chief Young stripped off his jacket and put on a gas mask and went in. He searched every room and was climbing the attic stairs when he spotted Pollard.

He yelled for Pollard to come out and then heard a shot. It was the shot, apparently, that went through Pollard's temple. But Young said he fired anyway to be sure Pollard wasn't firing at him.

This was 4:40 p.m. An hour later a taxicab company dispatcher telephoned police and said "Cab 23" appeared to be in trouble.

Police put out a citywide pickup for the cab. It was spotted near an intersection about a mile away from the apartment house.

The cabbie, John Casapullo, 28, said that when Rydstrom saw the police cars he reached for his gun. Casapullo said he stepped on the brakes and jumped out. The cab rolled into a parked car.

Police said Rydstrom put the revolver to his head and fired as they converged on the cab.

Young Ohioans Unable To Drive In New York

Ohio motorists vacationing in or through the State of New York should heed advice offered by Robert E. Foley, Ohio's Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

Foley says, "I would like to remind our motorists that the State of New York does not issue drivers' licenses to persons under 18 years of age. That means that a 16 or 17-year-old Ohio licensed operator who drives a motor vehicle in New York does so illegally."

Foley also cautioned Ohio drivers 18 to 21 years old who expect to drive in New York state. "These young motorists," said Foley, "come under the New York insurance law which calls for liability coverage of $10 and $20 thousand, and $5 thousand property damage coverage. They must carry evidence of proper insurance if they wish to drive in New York."

Woman Collapses At McCarthy-Army Hearing

WASHINGTON (AP)—The collapse of a woman spectator caused scarcely a ripple of confusion yesterday at the McCarthy-Army hearings.

The office of Dr. George W. Calver, Capitol physician, said the woman is Mrs. R. D. Seaman of Washington, and that her condition did not appear serious. The testimony of John G. Adams, Army counselor, continued as Mrs. Seaman was wheeled out on a stretcher. She was taken to Casualty Hospital.

A boy and two girls have been selected to edit the "Olympian," the school yearbook. They are Harry Reisinger, Jayne Glausser and Ruth Hayes. Advisors are Miss Lucille Bennett and Miss Mary Barrord.

Joyce Wack and Betty Lederle were named co-editors of the school paper, "The Student's Voice." Miss Mary Jane Wilson advised the staff.

OPERATION HATCHING—These children at a Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., school may not become farmers, but they are interested in the hatching project of their teacher, Mrs. Opal Kendall. She purchased 15 eggs, borrowed a "sitting hen," and then left the situation up to the hen. The children anxiously watched the experiment, as one chick after another was hatched.

Being Smart Fellow Can Bring Complications

TIVERTON, R. I. (AP)—Being a smart fellow can lead to complications sometimes, as John P. Moloney, 17, is finding out.

An honor student at De Lasalle Acacemy, Newport. Moloney won a Naval ROTC scholarship entitling him to choose from 52 colleges with tuition and books paid, and $50-a-month subsistence.

Moloney filed applications at Brown, Harvard, Yale and Princeton.

Yesterday, he received replies from all four, offering him full scholarships.

Now he's trying to decide which school he'll choose.

NAACP Gets $75,000 From Phil Murray Fund

NEW YORK (AP)—A $75,000 grant has been presented to the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People by the Philip Murray Memorial Foundation, created in honor of the late CIO president.

The grant, to be used for "educational purposes in race relations," was turned over to the NAACP yesterday by Walter Reuther, Murray's successor.

Wreckers Kept Busy By Bad Texas Mud

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (AP) — A wrecker was dispatched yesterday to pull out a wrecker that got stuck in the mud while trying to pull out another wrecker that got stuck while trying to pull out a car that got stuck.

Late Sen. Hoey Prided Self On Common Touch

SHELBY, N. C. (AP)—Sen. Clyde R. Hoey (D-NC), who died in his Washington office yesterday, prided himself on keeping the common touch.

He often told of a constituent who declared, in what was meant as a compliment, "Sen. Hoey is the commonest man in North Carolina."

Rites Held for Yanks Killed By Vietminh

HONG KONG (AP) — Memorial services were held in the British Royal Air Force chapel here yesterday for two American civilian pilots killed May 6 in Vietminh territory in Indochina.

The fliers, Wallace A. Buford, 28, of Kansas City, Kan., and James B. McGovern, 32, of Elizabeth, N. J., lost their lives when the flying boxcar they were piloting for the French was hit by Vietminh antiaircraft and exploded in a crash-landing.

The chapel was packed by friends of the airmen, including officials of the Civil Air Transport Airline (CAT), U. S. Consulate personnel and French air and Army attaches.

Salem, Wellsville Are Favorites In County Meet Friday

East Palestine Is Dark Horse

Alexander, Martin Top Quaker Threats

By SANDY HANSELL

Salem and Wellsville rank as co-favorites, with defending champion East Palestine rated the dark horse, in the 51st annual Columbiana County track meet scheduled for East Palestine Friday afternoon and evening.

Coach William Ward's Bulldogs have won or tied for the meet championship the past four years in a row.

Leetonia is the favorite for "B" laurels.

The event will get underway at 3 p.m. Friday with the preliminaries and finals in the shot. After the discus prelims and finals at 3:45, the qualifying heats for both hurdles and dashes will be run off between 4:30 and 5:30.

The finals will start at 7 p.m. tomorrow night with the pole vault, and will continue to approximately 9:30 or 10 p.m.

THE ONLY defending individual champion who will return for action tomorrow will be Salem's captain and ace Jerry Martin, who staged a beautiful stretch run to win the mile going away last year. He will be heavily favored to win his pet event again tomorrow.

Another top Quaker threat should be Jack Alexander in the high jump. Already clearing the 5-10 this season, Alexander will be seeking the six-foot mark tomorrow, the same effort that won him a tie for fourth place at the state finals last spring.

Other Quaker runners who are counted upon to bring in points will be Bob Sebo in the 100 and low hurdles, Joe Hajcak in the high hurdles, Dan Kendzierski and John Baker in the shot, Bill Lipp in the mile, and Dave Williams in the 880. There is a possibility that Lipp also may run the 880.

Question marks as far as Salem is concerned are the two relays and the broad jump, where either Jim Beard, Joe Hajcak or Alexander may pick up some surprise points.

After winning two straight dual meets and with an encouraging showing at last week's New Concord relays, Coach Frank J. Tarr's outfit is now in top shape for the county event.

WELLSVILLE IS the other powerhouse to be reckoned with.

Coach Al Checkler's outfit placed fifth in both the Martins Ferry relays and the Ohio Valley Meet, and has looked impressive in dual meets.

The squad's outstanding threat is Fred Carter, who is favored in the pole vault evert. He has gone as high as 11'2" this season, which should be sufficient to take the title.

Big Vance DeFilippo is a powerhouse in the weights, Jim Clark will give Alexander stiff competition in the high jump, and Fred Frost and Joe Surace are key men in the dashes.

The latter two also spark a crack 880-relay outfit, which will be favored to retain its crown from last year. The Bengals also will put their mile relay title from last year on the line and reportedly stand a good chance of repeating again this season.

John Herbert, powerful weight man, is Palestine's top threat. He is flirting with the 50-foot mark in the shot and flips the discus about 135 feet.

East Liverpool reportedly has little to offer outside of Herb Dorsey in the 440. Leetonia and Columbiana, the two 'B" entries, both have a few outstanding performers, but appear to lack the overall team strength to notch a win. The Bears rank as the "B" favorites after their fine showing at New Concord last week.

The race for team honors should be close, with little possibility of one team making a runaway of it as happened last year.

AT THAT TIME, in the Golden Jubilee 50th anniversary affair staged at Reilly Stadium, Palestine rolled up 60 points while runnerup Wellsville copped a mere 27½. Salem was fourth with 18 markers.

Tony Conkle was the outstanding star of the meet, capturing three firsts, one second and setting one new record.

As far as county records are concerned, chances appear slim that any will be broken during the meet. No one so far this year has come close to any of the previous high marks.

Dave Williams of Youngstown, head referee for the event, will be serving his 34th year as an official for the county meet. Nine East Palestine High School girls, headed by Kay Rukenbrod, will present awards to the individual winners of events.

Miss Rukenbrod also will be crowned as track queen during ceremonies Friday night.

The schedule of events is as follows:

3:00	Shotput, Prelims and Finals
3:45	Discus, Prelims and Finals
4:30	120-high hurdles, Prelims
4:45	100-dash, Prelims

7:00	Pole vault, Finals
7:30	High jump, Finals
7:30	120-hurdles, Finals
7:45	100-yard dash, Finals
7:55	Mile, Finals
8:10	880 Relay, Finals
8:25	440, Finals
8:30	Broad jump, Finals
8:40	180-low hurdles, Finals

WOODLING OUT STEALING BUT YANKS WIN—Gene Woodling, Yanks outfielder, is retired on a spectacular effort by Cleveland's Bobby Avila. When Woodling attempted to steal second base Indian Catcher Jim Hegan fired low and wide to Avila covering the bag. The second sacker grabbed the ball and dove for Woodling in time to register the putout. The Yanks won, 5-4, for their second straight over the Indians in Cleveland.

Indianapolis Beats Columbus 7-4

By The Associated Press

Indianapolis used 17 players, including five pitchers to beat Columbus 7-4 last night and increase its American Association lead to four games.

The Tribe, backed up by four double plays, cashed in on four unearned runs for its fourth straight victory. It was the Red Birds fifth loss in a row.

Kansas City replaced Louisville in second place, trimming Charleston 7-1 behind Tom Studivant's five hitter. The Blues supported him with an 11-hit barrage led by Marv Throneberry's two-run homer and a triple.

Louisville was subdued 8-3 by the St. Paul Saints who powered four homers and coasted behind Ron Negray's five hit chore.

Toledo scored twice in the seventh on two hits, two walks and an error to down Minneapolis 6-4 for its fourth victory in 12 western games on the current swing.

Braves Defeat Dodgers 5-1, White Sox Blank Boston 1-0

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sports Writer

The New York Yankees had some fresh ammunition today to use against the critics who have blasted them for hoarding talent during their pennant rampages of the past five seasons.

Exhibits A and B are Lew Burdette and Don Johnson, a pair of 27-year-old right-handed pitchers who once toiled in Yankee livery.

Burdette, now a front line member of the Milwaukee mound staff, mowed down the Brooklyn Dodgers on one hit yesterday for a 5-1 victory. Johnson gave up only two hits in pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 1-0 verdict over Boston.

But a quick survey of the deals that sent these young men to their present employers strongly indicates the Yankees had no generous share-the-wealth ideas. In fact, it's doubtful the New Yorkers had any notion these pitchers would stick in the majors, much less blossom into stars.

For example, Johnson, who had been relegated to the minors after a 4-3 season with New York in 1947, was lumped together with Duane Pillitte now with Baltimore), Jim Delsing (now with Detroit), George Stirnweiss and $50,000 in a 1950 deal with the St. Louis Browns that brought pitchers Joe Ostrowski and Tom Ferrick and infielder Leo Thomas to the Yanks.

Burdette was recalled from the minors in 1951 and tossed in with $50,000 in the deal with the Braves that sent Johnny Sain to New York. That trade looks better now, but at the time the experts figured the Yanks had come up with another "steal."

Burdette held on and finally caught fire last season in Milwaukee, winning 15 while losing five. Johnson was dealt to Washington by the Browns in 1951 and released by the Senators in 1952. Last season he had a 15-12 record at Toronto in the International League and the White Sox grabbed him. This year he has a 3-1 mark, including another two-hit shutout in addition to yesterday's fine performance.

Detroit held on to first place in the American League by 27 percentage points by beating Washington 4-2. The Yankees edged Cleveland 5-4.

Philadelphia replaced Brooklyn at the top of the National League. The Phils won over Chicago 5-4. New York defeated Cincinnati 2-1 and St. Louis slugged Pittsburgh 13-5.

Lefty Ted Gray pitched his first complete game and scored his first victory for the Tigers this season as he scattered six Washington hits. Jim Busby reached him for a home run in the ninth.

The Indians kayoed Eddie Lopat with a four-run uprising in the eighth but Johnny Sain came to the rescue and saved Lopat's fifth straight triumph. The victory was the Yankees' second in a row over the Indians and deadlocked the two teams in third place, a game and a half behind Detroit.

Johnson gave up his two hits to Boston, both singles in the first two innings. His mound foe, young Tom Brewer, walked in the only run of the game when he issued passes to four of the first six batters in the opening inning. Brewer had a no-hitter until Johnny Groth got an infield single in the seventh. He gave up two more singles.

The only hit off Burdette at Brooklyn was a home run by Gil Hodges in the fifth. Burdette kept the Dodgers pounding the ball into the dirt and first baseman Joe Adcock made 17 putouts. Two Dodgers walked, two struck out.

Harry Perkowski of Cincinnati had a two-hit shutout working at the Polo Grounds until the ninth when, with one out and one on, Bob Hofman unloaded his second pinch-hit homer of the season.

The Phillies who fumbled themselves into extra innings Tuesday night, made four more errors last night but Curt Simmons survived the handicap to post his fourth victory. The Cubs made it close when Bill Serena singled with the bases loaded for two runs in the ninth.

Rookie Wally Moon of the Cardinals got five hits in six tries against Pittsburgh and Red Schoendienst went 4-for-4 as the Redbirds battered Pirate pitching for 21 hits. The Pirates collected 14 in the game. This was the second time Moon had gotten five hits but this time he scored five runs, high in the majors this season. He homered and also stole a base.

Baltimore and Philadelphia in the American League weren't scheduled.

Beaver Creek Club To Meet Tonight

A smelt fry will be featured at the meeting tonight of the Beaver Creek Sportsman Club in Washingtonville. Pete Gwynne, president announces the lunch committee will serve the fish, caught by Lloyd Berg in Michigan.

A movie, "Sapphire Lake," will be shown during the meeting which gets underway at 8 p.m. in the clubroom over the I.G.A. Grocery Store.

Gwynne reports work on the new club building is progressing, with mostly interior work remaining before it will be ready for occupancy. Dutch Miles of Salem laid the floor in the building and Joe Kornbau did the wrecker work in removing trees and clearing the surrounding grounds.

Club meetings are held the second Thursday of each month, with possible suspensions in June, July and August for vacations.

Gwynne reminds members that dues of $2 per year are now payable for the fiscal year 1954-55, to any member of the membership committee.

Bob Curran, captain of the Syracuse University varsity crew, also is a star on the Orange swimming team.

Tribe Loses Again To Yanks; Regalado To Return To Lineup

Smith To Play Left, Westlake Benched After 5-4 Defeat

CLEVELAND (AP) — Manager Al Lopez—hoping additional batting punch will snap the Cleveland Indians' two-game losing streak—moved Rudy Regalado back to third base today and sent Al Smith to left field.

Smith, who subbed at third while Regalado recovered from a pulled thigh muscle, replaces Wally Westlake. Westlake produced just two hits in his last 19 chances.

Remarking that Smith gives pitchers a "fight all the way," Lopez added "at the time Rudy got hurt I said I would put him back in when he recovered. Smith has been hitting so well, though, that I want to keep him in the lineup." Smith has a .293 average.

Smith was an outfielder last year with the Indians, while Regalado was still toiling in the minor leagues.

The Tribe dropped its second straight game to the New York Yankees yesterday 5-4 as Johnny Sain squelched another late rally. Sain—working his fourth straight day in relief—took over after the Indians scored four times in the eighth off Eddie Lopat. He struck out Billy Glynn to end that inning and retired the last three Tribesmen in order to end the game.

Lopat got in trouble when Smith singled and Bobby Avila and Westlake walked. Al Rosen singled in Avila and Smith. Doby forced Rosen, but then Westlake scored on a passed ball. Hank Majeski's single scored Doby.

The Yankees had all their runs before that.

Irv Noren singled in the sixth, moved to second on a walk by Eddie Robinson and scored on Gene Woodling's single. Gil McDougald forced Woodling as Robinson crossed the plate with another run.

In the seventh, Phil Rizzuto walked, advanced as Hank Bauer grounded out and scored on Noren's single.

McDougald's double and a home run by Andy Carey brought in the other two Yankee runs in the eighth.

The loss dropped the Tribe into a tie with New York for third place, a game-and-a-half behind the front-running Detroit Tigers.

Easter, Five Others Cut Off Tribe Roster

CLEVELAND (AP)—Luke Easter, who entered professional baseball six years ago saying he was 28 years old is among six men the Cleveland Indians cut from the squad yesterday to meet the player limit.

Big Luke — undoubtedly older than he admits—was optioned to Ottawa, Ont., in the International League and probably never will return to the major leagues.

The other five cut from the squad were outfielder Jim Lemon, sold to the Washington Nats; pitchers Jose Santiago and Dave Hoskins sent to Indianapolis in the American Association; outfielder Jim Dyck, sent to Richmond in the International League and pitcher Bill Wight, optioned to San Diego in the Pacific Coast League.

That leaves the team at the limit of 25 plus two catchers—Hal Naragon, returned from military service, and Mickey Grasso, now on the disabled list.

Merchants Whip New Waterford

Barnes Homers In 13-2 Victory

The Salem Merchants successfully continued their quest for the county baseball championship last night, blasting New Waterford 13-2 on the losers' home field.

The Merchants exploded with 5 runs in the second inning, adding 2 in the third, 1 in the fourth and 5 in the fifth.

The hard-hitting team collected 17 hits, only 2 less than in the opening game when they defeated Lisbon.

Jim Barnes again stood out in the victory, blasting a home run in the fifth with the bases loaded and getting a double in the third.

He also pitched four innings, giving up only one hit. Dick Wyss hurled three innings and also gave up only 1 hit.

Stittle hit 3 for 3 including a double and Stallsmith 3 for 5 including a triple.

Red Weingart looked good in the field for the Merchants.

O'Hanlon pitched all the way for New Waterford, which now has a 1-1 won and loss record, having defeated New Galillee opening day.

Lighter Bat Aids Kluszewski Hitting

NEW YORK (AP)—They don't call Ted Kluszewski "The Blacksmith" for nothing. The short sleeves of his Cincinnati uniform expose the bulging muscles of a plough jockey. He makes Rocky Marciano look like a welterweight.

The powerful slugger is off to a flying start this season, with 10 homers, 20 runs batted in and a .318 average.

Since April 27 in 12 games, the big fellow has batted out 17 hits in 44 trips, including eight home runs and 20 runs batted in. Before April 27 he was hitting a sickly .250.

What happened?

"I changed my bat to another three ounces lighter and one inch shorter," he said. "Normally I use a 37-37 (37 ounces, 37 inches) but I keep this lighter wood for an emergency.

"When I find I'm not getting around with the heavy bat, I switch to the lighter one. The way I've been going recently I'll stick with it. Maybe it's only a psychological thing but it seems to make a difference to me."

The highest paid player in Cincinnati history—probably getting about $35,000—seems to be headed for his greatest year. At the rate he's going, they'll soon be writing how many games he is ahead of Babe Ruth's home run record.

Wallace Looks Bad In Win Over Gilliam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Coley Wallace, who has ambitions in boxing's heavyweight division, learned last night he has a long road to travel before he can rate a shot at Rocky Marciano's title.

Wallace learned his lesson the hard war, in a split decision win over Bill Gilliam in a nationally televised bout.

Bearing a little resemblance to the Joe Louis he portrayed in the movies, Wallace seemed completely bewildered by his light-punching opponent. In only two rounds did he manage to rough up Gilliam.

The crowd didn't think much of the 10-round bout, letting fly with boos from the sixth round on. No one was knocked down and the only blood that showed was from Gilliam's nose.

Wallace, whose most recent fight ended in knockout loss to Ezzard Charles, weighed in at 209. Gilliam was 210½. The fight was witnessed by 618 fans who paid $1,101.

Bus Service OK Is Seen Certain

Wellsville-Steubenville Changes Requested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—State approval of new bus service between Wellsville and Steubenville appeared certain today.

Three bus companies yesterday afternoon told a state utilities commission attorney - examiner how they would like to bring about the change, and an attorney representing the three firms, D. H. Armstrong of Columbus, asked for a decision by June 1.

Valley Motor Transit Co. of East Liverpool wants to abandon service from Wellsville to Steubenville, but keep East Liverpool to Wellsville runs. A new company, Steubenville Bus Co. of Martins Ferry, wants to provide service between Steubenville and Port Homer. Greyhound, which now runs buses between East Liverpool and Steubenville, wants authority to add stops to its present run.

H. R. Fredericks, vice president and general manager of Valley Motor, told Irvan A. Gorrill, a commission attorney-examiner, his firm lost $15,581 in the first three months of this year.

Anthony Battaglia of Weirton, W. Va., secretary - treasurer of Steubenville Bus, said his company is ready to supply all the service traffic will support.

Alex Hogg, superintendent of the Youngstown division of Greyhound, said his company wants to serve those communities abandoned by Valley Motor but which Steubenville Bus won't serve.

A commission spokesman indicated a quick decision will be forthcoming, as there were no protests voiced at the hearing on the three applications.

Women In Iran Better Treated Than U.S., Claim

McCOOK, Neb. (AP) — Mehdi Hamidji started to address a women's group here with: "I hate to tell you this."

Then he expressed the view that women in his homeland of Iran are treated more politely by Iranian men than are American women by American men and they lead an easier life, generally speaking.

Hamidji is a premedical student at Kearney (Neb.) State College.

Decorations, Jewelry Stolen From Melchior

CHICAGO (AP)—Two dozen foreign decorations awarded to opera singer Lauritz Melchior were stolen, along with jewelry, from an auto yesterday.

Police estimated the loss at $4,000. But the thieves who broke into the car and stole the leather case containing the medals and jewelry did not disturb cases containing jewelry and clothing valued at $25,000, which were locked in the car's trunk.

Melchior and his wife, Maria, were lunching with friends and the auto containing their luggage had been loaded for a trip to Midway Airport.

Cornerstone Of New Building Is Stolen

TRENTON, N. J. (AP)—On Tuesday a 20-pound limestone cornerstone for the new women's dormitory at N. J. State Teachers College was laid in a solemn ceremony. The block, for posterity's sake, contained daily newspapers, the school paper and college programs.

Yesterday somebody stole it — from underneath two layers of brick and cement. It hasn't been found.

3 Youths Convicted In Manufacturer's Death

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

This is a strange "recession" indeed.

The leaders of some 5,100,000 unionized workers will ask for wage increases — and will get still another round. Industry is in spar, but not go into any finish fight.

Victor Riesel

So, except for a few hard hit industries such as textiles, soft goods and apparel, there will be wage increases ranging from $2.50 to $3.50 a week.

The importance of this new round of wages is that industry feels it can give a little more, even in this uncertain period.

This means that the men in the nation's executive suites figure 1954 in the black. But they figure closely. They know, for example, in one famous company in the electronics industry, that half a penny more an hour per worker means one million dollars more a year on the payroll.

THATS WHERE the fight will be — around those half pennies—because no one yet is certain. All is still caution. Yet both sides want labor peace. Industry wants to produce. Labor doesn't want a series of national strikes — especially with the White House neutral in the major battles and President Eisenhower a bitter opponent of national strikes.

Wage demands for hundreds of thousands of workers have already been made — and in the next 60 days leaders of 5,000,000 additional unionists will be bargaining with the nation's biggest corporations.

Among those who are, or will be, bargaining with CIO are U. S. Steel, Inland Steel, Republic Steel and Bethlehem Steel. Also the giants in rubber such as Goodyear, Goodrich, U. S. Rubber and Firestone. And the big electronics corporations like General Electric and Westinhouse. Also the packinghouse firms — Swift, Armour and Wilson.

The CIO's Communication Workers Union is tackling AT and T and Western Electric. There will be bargaining in shipping and lumbering.

The unions are asking for guaranteed annual pay, $1.25 hourly minimums, 30 hours work for 40 hours pay per week, $10 a week pay increases, a six-hour day at eight hours pay and a 35-hour week at a full week's pay.

POINT IS THERE is not pattern. There won't be the pace-setters and the pattern-makers. There will be individual bargaining and packages. All will depend on the individual companies unlike previous years where rates were pretty much set by pacts made by the auto and steel unions.

The fight for a shorter week and the guaranteed annual wage will be merely for bargaining purposes. Joint committees will be set up to "study" the problem.

Both sides realize that this is not the time to cup production or increase the cost of each unit. Whatever margin there is will go for increased wages.

How much in wages?

The median figure will be about seven-and-a-half cents an hour, or about $3 a week. In steel the best guesses are about $3.50 a week more. In electronics, about $2.60 a week more — or about a six-and-a-half cents an hour raise.

In industries not quite as badly hit as textiles, but operating at a lower profit than last year, the wage increase will run $2 a week, or a nickel an hour more. In construction and industries running strong, the increase will go to $4 a week, or a dime and perhaps more an hour.

AT THE MOMENT there is little of the bitterness or toughness of previous years on either side of the table. Labor is uncertain and management is willing to invest a few dollars more each week in each worker to insure labor peace. That's the thinking behind the scenes.

Up front it's different. Labor leaders will state that profits are still high, that there is ability to pay, even in 1954, and they will prove their contentions.

The official position of industry was given me the other day by Chad McClellan, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, when he said:

"There can be no wage increases without a price increase. And there should be no price increases now or business will suffer just when it needs volume sales. Therefore, there should not be any wage increases this year.

"American industry is operating at a three-and-a-half percent profit margin. We're right up against the roof. You can't take anything out of that without bankrupting many businesses unless prices go up.

Neither side will be as tough as they sound. They're counting on a good year.

Old Fashioned Country Supper

Ask your friends to an old-fashioned country supper next time you are entertaining. Their taste buds will start working at the very idea.

To most of us "country supper" conjures up so much. Family comfort, old friends, places to remember with loving nostalgia.

And wonderful dishes! Great slices of baked ham, golden-brown corn fritters crisp and sizzling from an iron kettle, the tantalizing taste of home-pickled peaches!

That's an old-time country supper that's easy to repeat — especially if you bring it up to date and make kitchen work easy.

The country suppers I remember especially were the ones when we had unexpected company. "We'll just put another board in the table," my mother would say and sometimes as many as twenty would sit down.

Instead of a whole or half baked ham, you might choose one or two ham steaks, needing no advance preparation, broiled to goodness quickly and easily. Easy to carve, too.

Pickled peaches? They always had a place of honor on the old-fashioned preserving shelf. But if you have none stored away, open a can of peaches and glaze them with a little butter and sugar under the broiler while you are heating the ham.

Co rn fritters? Make them the easy way and use pancake ready-mix for the batter and a can of vacuum-packed whole-kernel corn. The pancake mix speeds up preparation and its special blend of flours give crisp and tender fritters that will not absorb excess fat if they are carefully deep-fat fried.

If you have one of these divine electric fryers you can prepare the fritters right in front of your guests —even let the company take over. If not, the old iron kettle is still a good utensil — especially if you use a deep-fat frying thermometer.

Want another country supper menu? How about thick slices of roast fresh pork for the meat? For dessert, serve peach fritters made with pancake ready-mix batter. Dust the fritters lightly with superfine granulated or confectioners' sugar and a dash of cinnamon.

Or serve roast beef and hot potato salad for the main course; make the peach fritters the dessert and accompany them with a hot orange sauce.

That's real American eating!

Golden Corn Fritters

1 cup pancake ready-mix
1 egg (beaten)
½ cup milk
2 cups drained canned whole-kernel corn

Add beaten egg and milk to pancake ready-mix, mixing until fairly smooth. Fold in whole-kernel corn. Drop by spoonfuls into hot deep fat (360 F.); turn when brown on underside. Total cooking time is about 3 minutes. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve hot with maple-blended syrup. Makes 12 fritters.

Peach Fritters

1 cup pancake ready-mix
1 tablespoon sugar
1 egg (beaten)
2-3 cup milk
8 drained canned peach halves

Stir together pancake ready-mix and sugar. Add beaten egg and milk, mixing until fairly smooth. Dip drained peach halves into batter. Fry in hot deep fat (360F.); turn when brown on underside. Drain on absorbent paper. Serve sprinkled with superfine granulated or confectioners' sugar with roast pork or serve as dessert with a hot orange sauce. Makes 8 fritters.

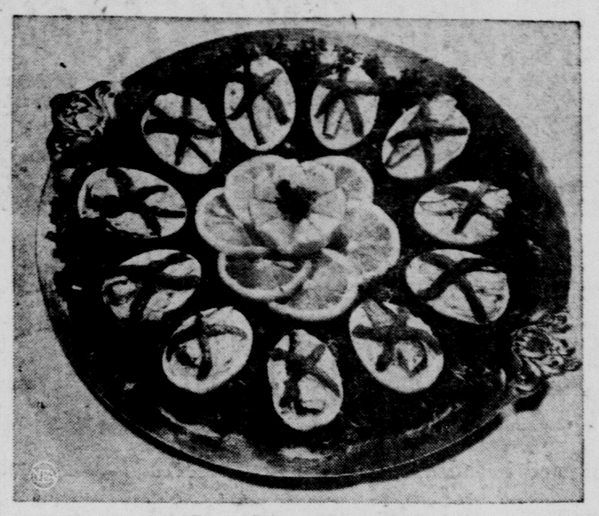

ONION-POTATO SOUP

3 large onions (thinly sliced)
3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1½ cups boiling water
2 chicken bouillon cubes
1½ cups milk
1-3 cup instant mashed potato
1 cup cream or evaporated milk
1-3 cup cooking sherry
salt and pepper to taste
parsley for garnishing

Cook onion gently in butter for 10 minutes. Add boiling water and bouillon cubes; cover and simmer for about 20 minutes, or until onions are soft. Force onions and liquid through sieve.

Add milk; heat to scalding, then stir in instant mashed potato; cook, stirring for a minute or so. Add cream and sherry; season with salt and papper Heat piping hot Garnish with chopped parsley. Makes 5 or 6 servings.

Norwegian Sardine Snacks

Our niece married a man of Norwegian ancestry. He inherited some wonderful recipes using the sardines of his mother's country. We've selected those suited for holiday parties. They are easy to prepare, but very de luxe and handsome to look at.

Sardine-Cucumber Canape

Place 2 whole Norway sardines on a triangular slice of buttered pumpernickel which has been lightly spread with mayonnaise. Top with ½ slice cucumber with rind, and decorate with a small strip of pimiento.

Crackers and lemon sections provide an appropriate accompanying snack.

Stuffed Eggs Olaf

One can of Norway sardines
6 hard-boiled eggs or more
1 tablespoon mayonnaise to 6 eggs (12 halves)
piccalilli or India relish to taste
salt and pepper to taste
pimiento strips

(Most Norway sardines are packed in 3-ounce cans and contain an average of 20-22 sardines).

Hard-boil the eggs and let cool. Remove shells, cut eggs in half lengthwise, and scoop out the yolks. Mix piccalilli or India relish and mayonnaise with the yolks. Season to taste.

Stuff the eggs with this mixture, top each egg half with a whole sardine and decorate with criss-cross strips of red pimiento.

For an eye-catching arrangement serve on a bed of chopped parsley or lettuce leaves.

Sardine-Egg Spread

One-half (3 ounce) tin of Norway sardines
2 tablespoons canned or frozen lemon juice
4 hard-cooked egg yolks, sieved
2 tablespoons salad dressing or mayonnaise

Mush sardines and add lemon juice. Add sieved egg yolks and salad dressing and mix well. Spread mixture on open-face sandwiches, toast rounds, crisp crackers or potato chips.

GREEN BEAN AND RAM CASSEROLE

4 medium-sized yams
6 slices lean bacon (diced)
1 cup water
one 10-ounce package frozen green beans.
¼ cup flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon celery seed
2 teaspoons vinegar
2 teaspoons brown sugar

Wash and cook yams covered in boiling salted water until tender; peel and cut into crosswise slices. Place in greased 2-quart casserole Meawhile, cook bacon in a saucepan until very lightly browned; add water and green beans

Cover and cook until beans are just tender, about 8 minutes. Make a smooth paste of flour and milk; add to green bean-bacon mixture and cook, stirring occasionally until thickened and smooth.

Add remaining ingredients and mix well; pour over yams in casserole. Bake covered in moderate oven (350 F.) 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

QUICK MACARONI AND CHEESE

2 tablespoons chili sauce
one 1-pound can macaroni with cheese sause
2 slices bread
2 tablespoons butter or margarine

Add chili sauce to macaroni and heat. Cut bread into tiny cubes and brown in butter. Top servings of macaroni with butter-toasted bread cubes. Makes 4 servings.

Three-Way Use Of Pork Shoulder

One of the neatest tricks in meat buying and cooking is the three-way use of a pork shoulder roast. If you buy a larger than usual roast — one weighing about 6 pounds — you can have it cut up for three completely different meat dishes.

Buying a large cut of meat usually proves to be an economy, as it often sells for less per pound than the individual cuts. From a large pork shoulder roast you can get three or four pork steaks, a chunky pork roast (which will serve your family for two or more meals) and diced pork for chop suey).

Pork Steak Dinner

For juicy, tender pork steaks, braise them — do not fry or broil. Trim a little fat from the edge of the steaks and fry out in a large skillet or Dutch oven. Remove pieces and in the fat brown the floured steaks. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and perhaps a little thyme or sage; also add some chopped onions, if desired.

Add ¼ to ½ cup tomato juice or water, cover tightly and cook over low heat 45 minutes to 1 hour or until fork tender.

Port Roast Dinner

It's important to know the weight of this roast so as to accurately figure cooking time.) Season the roast with salt and pepper and place on a rack in a shallow pan. Roast, uncovered, in a 325 degree F. oven, 50 minutes to the pound.

To make the gravy, pour off most of the fat, stir in several tablespoons flour, and add hot water. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Season to taste with salt, pepper and sage.

Pork Chop Suey

Cut the remaining piece of pork into cubes and make into a tasty chop suey:

1½ pounds diced pork
3 tablespoons fat
1 cup sliced mushrooms (optional)
1 cup sliced onions
1½ cups sliced celery
1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon salt
1½ cups bouillon or water
4 tablespoons cornstarch
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 can bean sprouts, drained
Toasted almonds (optional)

Cook pork and mushrooms in hot lard until lightly browned. Add onions, celery, seasonings and bouilon; cover and cook until tender, about 30 minutes. Thicken with cornstarch mixed to a paste with a little water. Add soy sauce and bean sprouts and cook slowly for 15 minutes. Pumpkin Pie With Pecans

From Illinois cooks comes this recipe for one of the creamiest pumpkin pies we've ever eaten at our house. The pecan halves that encircle it give a pleasant consistency contrast and a welcome extra flavor.

Pumpkin Pie
(6 to 8 servings)

1 teaspoon ginger
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ cup boiling water
2 eggs
1 cup firmly packed brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1¼ cups canned pumpkin
1 cup evaporated milk
3 tablespoons orange juice
1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
pecan halves

Blend spices and water. Beat eggs slightly in top of double boiler Add sugar, salt, pumpkin and spice mixture. Blend thoroughly, then stir in milk. Heat over boiling water to scalding point, about 3 minutes.

Blend in orange juice. Pour immediately into unbaked pastry shell.

Bake in hot oven (425 degrees F.) 15 minutes, then turn off heat and let pie remain in oven until filling is set, about 15 to 20 minutes longer. The heat retained in the oven will be sufficient to finish baking the filling. When ready to serve, place a circle of pecan halves around edge of filling. Makes 1 9-inch pie.

PARMESAN NIBBLES

4 tablespoons butter or margarine
3 cups bite-size shredded rice biscuits
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
3 tablespoons grated Parmesan
½ cup salted almonds

Melt butter in 10-inch skillet. Add shredded rice biscuits; stir over moderately low heat to toast lightly — about 3 minutes. Remove from heat. Stir in salt, paprika and cheese. Mix with almonds. Serve warm or cold.

Dutch Dish Made With Clams

Around Lancaster, Pa., you'll find real Pennsylvania Dutch cooking. We were there recently and are still smacking our lips.

Here's the type of hearty fare we had. This recipe came from a "Dutch dinner" the American Spice Trade Association gave to food editors recently.

Bretzel Supp mitt Clams

One 7-ounce can minced clams and liquor
2 cups canned clam broth
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon ground thyme leaves
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon ground black pepper
2 tablespoons grated onion
2 tablespoons dried parsley flakes
4 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 tablespoons flour
½ cup light or heavy cream
paprika
12 large pretzels

Drain clams. Place liquor in sauce pan. Add broth, milk, thyme, salt, garlic salt, black pepper, onion, and parsley. Simmer very gently for 5 minutes. Do not allow to come to a full boil. Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter or margarine in saucepan. Stir in flour.

Remove from heat and gradually stir in 1 cup of the milk mixture. Add remaining milk mixture, heat and stir until slightly thickened. Add minced clams, cream and remaining butter. Heat thoroughly and serve sprinkled with paprika. Crumble pretzels over soup when serving.

Here's another good Pennsylvania Dutch recipe:

Schnitzel Beans
(Serves 6)

One pound fresh snap beans
4 strips lean bacon
2 large onions, chopped
2 cups chopped fresh tomatoes
salt (to taste)
1 teaspoon whole basil leaves
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
1 cup hot water.

Cut beans into 1-inch pieces. Fry bacon until crisp. Drain and put aside. Saute onions in bacon fat until soft, but not brown. Add remaining ingredients, and simmer, covered, for ½ to of a hour or until beans are very tender. Serve topped with the crumbled bacon.

Home Dressed Meats Always

Fresh meat has a very pleasant taste! You really cannot explain it, except as a fresh taste! That is the reason we are very careful to always have fresh meat for you. Many say meat should hang a long time after it is slaughtered, but that is the way you get the frozen tastes, odors and bacteria that does not go with good, fresh meat. We dry feed our cattle the year round, so as to have fresh meat that is tender. This week end we are going to sell our good Chuck Roasts for 43 cents per pound, which is a real good buy for it is top quality. No waste and will be tender when you are ready to serve it. Also our Ground Beef at 2 pounds for 75 cents is also right for there is very little fat and made of all good, fresh meat always.

ALMOND COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
¾ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ cup quick-cooking rice cereal
¾ cup butter or margarine
½ cup finely chopped blanched almonds
1 egg, beaten
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon almond extract

Mix flour, sugar, salt, and baking powder into mixing bowl; mix rice cereal in well. Add butter and blend in thoroughly with pastry blender or fingertips. Mix in chopped almonds.

Combine egg, water and almond extract, then sprinkle over flour mixture. Stir with fork until dough pulls away from side of bowl. Knead gently to form smooth ball of dough, then let stand 1 hour. Form dough into balls about 1 inch in diameter.

Place on ungreased cookie sheet about 4 inches apart, then flatten dough with hand to thickness of ¼ inch. If desired, press a whole blanched almond in center of each cookie. Bake in moderate oven, (350 ,) until a light golden brown —about 20 minutes. Makes 48 cookies.

CREAMED CHICKEN

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons minced onion
½ cup finely diced celery
1-3 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2½ cups milk
2 cups diced cooked chicken
½ cup slivered toasted blanched almonds
2 tablespoons minced parsley

Melt butter; add onion and celery; cook over low heat until tender. Blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk; cook and stir constantly until sauce thickens and boils. Stir in turkey, almonds and parsley; heat thoroughly. Serve at once over waffles. Makes 6 servings.

CREOLE TOMATO SOUP

3 slices bacon
1 tablespoon finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons finely diced celery
1 can condensed tomato soup
1 1-3 cups water

Dice bacon fine. In heavy saucepan, cook bacon, onion and celery until bacon is crosp. Add soup and water. Stir well and heat to serving temperature. Makes 3 servings.

FIX THOSE PANCAKES

If you are using an iron griddle, grease it lightly each time you use it, and make sure your pancake batter has at least a tablespoon of fat in it.

Swiss Rabbit For Party Lunch

Hermine Oberli Dolder comes from Switzerland and at a Swiss breakfast party in New York she told us how to make Fontina, or Swiss Rabbit. It's a perfect dish fr a party as all the guests dunk for a party as all the guests dunk squares of toast on forks into the large bowl of bubbling Fontina and then eat the delicious stuff.

There is a fondue Neuchateloise, made with wine, and this one from the Valais district of Switzerland, made with milk.

Fontina or Swiss Rabbit

Two teaspoons caraway seeds (optional)
2 tablespoons butter
4 tablespoons flour
4 cups milk
1 pound Switzerland Swiss, shredded (approximately 5 cups
2 teaspoons salt
2 pinches nutmeg

Soak caraway seeds in hot water for 15 minutes. Melt butter in saucepan, add flour and stir over low fire until well blended. Dissolve gradually with the milk, add the strained caraway seeds and bring almost to the boiling point. Blend in cheese gradually, stirring until it has completely dissolved and fondue starts bubbling.

Season with salt and nutmeg. Serve on hot toast or in heated patty shells, perferably one at a time. Keep balance of fondue hot, but not boiling.

If possible, serve in chafing dish and place in center of table. Guests gather around it and dunk to their heart's content. Would make a welcome end to a Halloween party.

A Look At Britain

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—During the American Revolution a considerable number of Frenchmen, following Lafayette's example, came over here as volunteer fighters for freedom.

Many of these Gallic idealists, however, were sadly disillusioned by the treatment they received in frontier America. They wrote long letters of complaint back home to their friends in France, the gist of which was roughly as follows:

'What a crude and ungrateful people these Americans are! Here we have crossed an ocean to help them fight for and win their liberty.

"And how do they show their appreciation? These farmer 'patriots' refuse to give us hay for our horses unless we pay in advance. The American storekeepers are all robbers—every one. As soon as they find out we are French, they immediately double the price on everything. They seem to think every Frenchman is a millionaire.

"Believe me, my dear Andre, if you are still planning to come over to help in the struggle for independence, you would do well to abandon such ideas at once and remain where you are in our beloved Paris. These Americans are a race of bandits. Far from deserving their freedom, they should in my opinion all be thrown in jail until they learn a little honesty."

Thousands of Americans who, more than a century and a half later, served in France during the second world war were equally disillusioned—and on the same point. They felt more like victims than liberating heroes.

"We figured the French would roll out the welcome mats," they write back home, "but you have to count your fingers every time you shake hands with these jokers.

"As soon as an American uniform comes into sight, they jack up the prices sky-high. They clobber you for a week's pay for a bottle of wine full of bubbles, and if you ask me I think we ought to pay Germany to take the country back."

This same sentiment now also seems to prevail among some American servicemen stationed in Great Britain. A poll of 5,000 U.S. soldiers and airmen there by a British newspaper showed that more than 8 out of 10 believe shopkeepers, landlords and cab drivers are gouging them merely because they are Americans.

Taken at its face value, this poll might be viewed as indicating a serious rift between our servicemen and our British allies.

It is unlikely, however, that the poll really proves any such thing. Soldiers—ever since the Romans—have been firmly convinced that, wherever stationed, the civilians take them for suckers and hike the prices on them.

A poll among troops at most bases in this country would show probably a majority of the men are firmly conviced the storekeepers in the area are engaged in a mass plot to overcharge them. Certainly they felt that way in wartime, and it must be admitted that often they were right. They were gulled by many a pinch-penny profiteer.

There is undoubtedly justification for the complaints made against British shopkeepers, a number of whom are convinced all Americans are rich and that the U.S. motto is "Fun at Any Price."

But it is also true, as the paper which made the poll pointed out, that the longer American servicemen stay in Britain the better they like the country.

Between 1946 and 1950 American servicemen returned home with 35,469 British brides.

A U. S. soldier has one simple way to deal with a British shopkeeper he feels has swindled him. He can always marry the guy's daughter and demand his duogh back in the form of a dowry.

Ohioans Are Apathetic Toward Civil Defense, Survey By AP Reveals

By ROBERT L. SHAFFER

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"The civil defense question is easy to answer. We have none at all."

"Civil defense? Haven't heard the word for months."

"Current ripple of interest largely centered on who is going to get whose money."

These were some of the answers received this week from an Associated Press survey of the status of civil defense programs around the state. Staff members of Associated Press newspapers looked over their programs and a majority came up with reports of public apathy to preparations for possible enemy bombing attack.

This was true not only in non-target areas but also at some points listed as "critical target areas." There are 10 cities on the critical list: Toledo, Cleveland, Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Steubenville, Bellaire, Columbus, Dayton, and Cincinnati.

There are seven others designated "target areas" by the Federal Civil Defense Administration: Ironton, Hamilton, Middletown, Springfield, Lima, Lorain and Elyria.

In addition to being loaded with prime industrial targets, Ohio is close georgraphically to the front line of a potential enemy bomber sweep from the north—the type of attack Ohio CD officials consider most likely.

E. W. King, CD director of information for Ohio, says he believes any time the enemy starts shooting it will be unannounced. And the first raid would be a big one, he says, with missiles ranging from germ bombs to h-bombs.

Here are some reports from around the state on the condition of CD preparations if that attack should be launched today:

CLEVELAND — Total volunteers in Cuyahoga County number avout 85,915. CD officials say they need 203,980 John J. Pokorny, CD director for Cleveland and coordinator for the county, says until the need for CD is made obvious to everyone, "the public will continue to be disinterested in the program."

DAYTON—One of the most conscious cities in the state, Dayton reports good results from half a dozen test alerts in the last four months in downtown area. A poorer showing in residential districts is blamed on shortage of wardens to clear streets. City and county leaders are considering formation of a countywide "Miami Valley civil defence authority." Eight other counties would be invted to jon the proposed organzaton.

CINCINNATI—With the CD staff now increased to five, operating on a $117,000 budget, a survey is being conducted to see how many volunteers are avilable. Radio and television stations are cooperating in an educational program. With a few exceptions, industry is apathetic.

TOLEDO—Joseph F. Moore, CD director, says he needs at least twice the present number of volunteers for an adequate program. He is in the midst of activating a new and secretly located control center. Toledo has mutual aid pacts with all northeastern Ohio and central Michigan cities.

YOUNGSTOWN — CD officials say present need is to get the public interested in volunteer efforts. The city has an $80,000 warning siren system. Director Robert S. Hay says training of 12,000 volunteers has not progressef too well.

COLUMBUS—A new filter center —one of two in the state—has been opened. The center operates on a 24-hour basis, receiving and processing reports from observation posts, "tracking" planes on a huge map and passing information to Air Force installations.

CANTON — Federal and state matching funds totaling $37,000 are on the way for an air raid warning and communications system. These will be added to $12,500 raised by Major Carl F. Wise through industrial contributions. A functioning CD staff now is being organized. The city will rely heavily on Red Cross volunteers for disaster work. Mutual aid and fire fighting pacts have been signed with Massillon, Alliance, Louisville and North Canton.

AKRON—Civil defense is virtually non existent in city and county, with no organization in Akron. The city had $48,000 held in escrow for several years for purchase of sirens. None have been purchased.

Little or no interest in CD programs was reported at Salem, Upper Sandusky, Fremont, Wilmington of Logan. Alliance, Marietta and Marion are expanding CD operations. Massillon, with a strong CD program, is installing sirens. The city has about 1,000 volunteers and a well - organized staff. Springfield will rely principally on Red Cross, volunteer firemen and other established groups in event of an emergency.

Civil defense in Pickaway County appears to be reviving, says a report from Circleville. "Prior to the current ripple of interest, largely centered on who is going to get whose money," the report says, "the CD picture here was virtually at zero."

HIGHWAY CHAMP — Gomer W. Bailey, of Denver, Colo., is the trucking industry's "driver of the Year" for 1954. He topped off more than a million miles of safe driving and climaxed his record by saving the lives of a family of four following a house-trailer smashup.
